First, Exciting News About New Website!!
By Liberty

Everything is moving towards a launch of my new website and I’m very excited. I feel like a kid at Christmas time. I want to open it right now!

We are believing for an August 15th 2008 launch. A special notice will go out to confirm this. This site will feature the audio BTP Book, all of my teaching audio CDs, Liberty’s Believers’ Enrichment Program and LDT audios, Breaking the Power Video Seminar audios, and all teaching CDs on our order and resource list. These audio CDs will be in mp3 format which you will be able to immediately download to your computer. No more shipping or handling charges. No more waiting!

We have already created our pilot Deluxe E-Book of Shattering Your Strongholds and it is beautiful, thanks to Karen Failor of ccawebs.net. This E-Book has a search feature, a go-to-page feature, highlights, a note pad feature, and much more.

The new Liberty’s Believers’ Enrichment Program will be available in its entirety on this new website as well! Sixteen downloadable teaching CDs (audios of Long Distance Training DVDs) at a reduced price, and manuals from the Long Distance Training Program that are revised with all of the colored PowerPoint Slides included in the manuals.

This will all be available to you with a simple download for a reduced price because there will no inventory, no invoicing, no packing and shipping! Can you tell that I am excited?????

Who Do YOU Love?

The Bible says that the world shall know us by our love one for another. That should take care of the body of Christ (although that poll on that is not always encouraging!). To further complicate how we practice love, we are not only to love those in our church but we are also to love all human beings—even politicians.

I have been deeply concerned about how our upcoming presidential election has seemed to affect some Christians. Recently I finally reacted and responded to a hateful hit piece of e-mail from two Christians who have been in the ministry. They both forwarded an e-mail to me regarding someone running for office, saying that this person was a snake in the grass and a creep. That was some of the nicer things said.

Every week I receive hate e-mail from Christians. Many concern other nationalities, as if the United States and Israel were God’s only children. Not! He has people in every country trying very hard to reach their country for Christ. They do this by telling non-believers how much God loves them. I wonder if these witnesses have to hide the fact that not all Christians love them. How do you tell people you are witnessing to that they can only count on God to love them all the time.

One Sunday in a restaurant (no more than 45 minutes after sweetly singing Amazing Grace in church!) several Christians were trashing one of the presidential candidates. I finally asked them how many of them were praying for this person. You would have thought I had asked them if they had eaten any broken glass lately. A couple of them fairly spit out the words, “No! Are you kidding? I wouldn’t pray for that person if … (fill in the blank)”
This was definitely one of those times when I wanted to grab these believers by their ears and shake them soundly saying, “What’s wrong with you? Why are you saying such things instead of praying for these people?” The keys words here are PRAYING FOR, not praying about, not praying against, not telling God what He needs to do with them.

Nowhere in the Bible does it say that God’s people are to try to change the direction of their nation or the world with venom-filled, hate-filled, hit-piece e-mails. No where in the Bible does it even say to demonstrate, hold marches, or get petitions signed. It says to pray.

I push prayer instead of trashing other people, and I often get the response, “Well, it is fine to pray, but that’s not enough. You need to take some kind of action as well!”

Excuse me? I’m not some little Christian speed bump praying softly away while the lions are circling me. I travel the world actively engaging the powers of darkness. I’m out there trying to spread hope and the Good News to everyone—politicians, Muslims, Kenyans, divorced and broken people, betrayed and wounded people, and even child molesters. I reach out to dozens of people every week in my e-mail question and answer/prayer ministry.

I’m praying and I will continue praying as I continue deleting hate e-mails from Christians. I believe my prayers are a lot more dangerous to Satan and his works of darkness in our nation than hateful e-mails are.

It is God’s desire that all might be saved. The Bible says that God say, “If my people, who are called by my name, will humble themselves, pray, seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways, then will I hear from heaven, forgive their sins, and heal their land.”

I think God would like to get all of us by our ears and shake us soundly while thundering, “What part of this verse don’t you get?”

I love all of you who will read this, but if you find something important that should be shared about a politician’s views or platforms, incorporate this information into an e-mail requesting prayer about the issue. Request prayer for the people involved.

Pray with NO agenda other than God’s will being done!

Please don’t send me anymore hate-filled e-mails. Believers must stop believing that ranting and raving is justified and validated because they think they know exactly what God wants. They must stop believing that they know what His will is regarding all other people, races, and situations in the world.

We are supposed to be the salt of the earth, the light of the world. Matthew 5:13-16 (Amplified) says this:

“13 You are the salt of the earth, but if salt has lost its taste (its strength, its quality), how can its saltiness be restored? It is not good for anything any longer but to be thrown out and trodden underfoot by men. 14 You are the light of the world. A city set on a hill cannot be hidden. 15 Nor do men light a lamp and put it under a peck measure, but on a lampstand, and it gives light to all in the house. 16 Let your light so shine before men that they may see your moral excellence and your praiseworthy, noble, and good deeds and recognize and honor and praise and glorify your Father Who is in heaven” (Amplified Bible).

The Bible is so clear on instructing us how God has proved and is continually proving His love to us. It tells us how to love others. Sometimes I grieve for Christians who are so unaware of the real meaning of loving one another and loving those in the world. John 3:16-17 tells us:

“16 For God so loved the world that he gave his one and only Son, that whoever believes in him shall not perish but have eternal life. 17 For God did not send his Son into the world to condemn the world, but to save the world through him” (NIV).

Romans 12:9-21, tells us this:

“9 Love from the center of who you are; don’t fake it. Run for dear life from evil; hold on for dear life to good. 10 Be good friends who love deeply; practice playing second fiddle. 11 Don’t burn out; keep yourselves fueled and aflame. Be alert servants of the Master, 12 cheerfully expectant. Don’t quit in hard times; pray all the harder. 13 Help needy Christians; be inventive in hospitality. 14 Bless your enemies; no cursing under breath. 15 Laugh with your happy friends when they’re happy; share tears when they’re down. 16 Get along with each other; don’t be stuck-up. Make friends with nobodies; don’t be the great somebody. 17 Don’t hit back; discover beauty in everyone. 18 If you’ve got it in you, get along with everybody. 19 Don’t insist on getting even; that’s not for you to do. ‘I’ll do the judging,” says God. “I’ll take care of it.’ 20 Our Scriptures tell us that if you see your enemy hungry, go buy that person lunch, or if he’s thirsty, get him a drink. Your generosity will surprise him with goodness. 21 Don’t let evil get the best of you; get the best of evil by doing good” (Message).

Please Continue to Pray for Liberty

I seem to be getting better and stronger, having a couple of really good days in each week. I really do attribute this improvement to the prayers that so many of you around the world say you have been praying. Thank you, thank you, thank you! I was told by the doctor that they could only give cardiac drugs to help the heart not get any worse. They said they could do nothing to heal it. This might be true, but I know the Great Physician can do all kinds of miraculous things to heal my heart. Thank you again for your prayers. You will be among the first to hear about my miracle when it arrives!

Let’s Go Over 1 Corinthians 13 One More Time!

If you are struggling with friends, co-workers, family members, or other Christians, it won’t matter if the relationship problem is your fault or theirs—you are the one God wants to lay down your will and hold high your love! How do you show love to family members and other people who are wrapped up in indignation, anger, hostility, and unforgiveness? Give them fruit.

Your fruit is revealed through your words and your actions, both of which define your character as a Christian. What you say and think about your spiritual walk is not as important as how you act in your walk. Galatians 5:6 (The Message) tells us this:

“For in Christ, neither our most conscientious religion nor disregard of religion amounts to anything. What matters is something far more interior: faith expressed in love.”

Regarding this verse, Matthew Henry says this: “Faith, where it is true, is a working grace: it works by love, love to God and love to our brethren; and faith, thus working by love, is all in all in our Christianity.” Faith is a working grace which must be acted out to bless others with its fruit. In 2nd Peter 1:5-8 (NKJV) Peter exhorts believers to add the qualities of Christian character to their faith lest they be unfruitful.

“Giving all diligence, add to your faith virtue, to virtue knowledge, to knowledge self-control, to self-control perseverance, to perseverance godliness, to godliness brotherly kindness, and to brotherly kindness love. For if these things are yours and abound, you will be neither barren nor unfruitful.”

In Galatians 5:22-23, we read the list of the fruit of the Spirit. Paul wrote this list to highlight the fruit that Christ’s church should bear and then offer to the world:

Love—Joy—Peace—Patience—Kindness—Goodness—Faithfulness—Gentleness—Self-control

Paul then says, “Against such there is no law.” No one in society, our courts of justice, or in government could find anything subversive, illegal, or objectionable in this list of spiritual fruit. Even an atheist would be hard put to condemn these qualities if they were always revealed as the fruit of each Christian life. It is easy, however, for others to condemn the Christian who is without any of the fruit on this list. The first spiritual fruit mentioned is love. Love is spiritually “legal” (according to Paul), an easy fruit to document in 1 Corinthians 13:4-7 (The Message):

“Love never gives up. Love cares more for others than for self. Love doesn’t want what it doesn’t have. Love doesn’t strut, Doesn’t have a swelled head, Doesn’t force itself on others, Isn’t always ‘me first,’ Doesn’t fly off the handle, Doesn’t keep score of the sins of others, Doesn’t revel when others grovel, Takes pleasure in the flowering of truth, Puts up with anything, Trusts God always, Always looks for the best, Never looks back, But keeps going to the end.”

Humans usually find it easiest to implement abstract spiritual principles (such as love) in their lives by actually practicing the principle. Begin looking for situations where you can practice the principles of love. Keep an accountability journal of what you find to do and what you actually do with love’s attributes listed below:

Love never gives up:
- Love sticks through thick and thin with a friend
- Love cares enough to help a family member in need more than once without complaining
- Love doesn’t stop reaching out to strangers in need even if such an action backfired before

Love cares more for others than for self:
- Love will sit up all night in a hospital waiting room with a frightened family member or friend
- Love gives surly teenagers a second and third chance without nagging
- Love will give away a favorite coat to a shivering stranger who has none

Love doesn’t want what it doesn’t have:
- Love doesn’t covet other peoples’ blessings
- Love isn’t greedy and selfish
- Love appreciates what it receives and shares its bounty with others

Love doesn’t strut, doesn’t have a swelled head:
- Love is never proud
- Love is never arrogant
- Love is never snobbish

Love doesn’t force itself on others:
- Love will wait patiently to offer help when someone is overwhelmed
• Love never takes a rejection of an offer of friendship or help personally
• Love is a good listener

Love isn’t always “me first”:
• Love thinks of the other person’s needs before it worries about its own
• Love always tries to give space, with a smile, to those who push in front of it
• Love tries to help others get ahead without undue concern for its own position

Love doesn’t fly off the handle:
• Love works hard to be patient with everyone
• Love overlooks other’s faults and differences
• Love counts to at least one hundred when someone is being difficult

Love doesn’t keep score of the sins of others:
• Love doesn’t make lists or keep books on other people’s actions
• Love strives to overlook or ignore other’s faults and continues praying for them
• Love doesn’t refuse to forgive because someone has done the same thing thirty times before

Love never revels when others grovel:
• Love never enjoys seeing someone being embarrassed when they fail
• Love never wants others to be uncomfortable
• Love is never pleased when someone seems to get “paid back” for mistakes or wrong actions

Love takes pleasure in the flowering of the truth:
• Love is pleased when someone is acquitted of an accusation
• Love forgives the one who confesses a falsehood
• Love rejoices and stands with all who stand up for what is right

Love puts up with anything:
• Love keeps being kind to someone who is mean and spiteful
• Love always acts with grace and mercy
• Love doesn’t react to another’s bad attitude, instead does a quick check on its own attitudes, and then prays

Love trusts God always:
• Love prays for God’s will to be done in others’ lives with great blessing
• Love knows that God’s Word can always be trusted when praying for self and for others
• Love has trust and confidence in the goodness, wisdom, and power of God

Love always looks for the best:
• Love always looks for the good in people that God sees in them
• Love always believes for the potential that God is working out in others
• Love always knows that God is working in every situation in every life that is being prayed for

Love never looks back, but keeps going to the end:
• Love doesn’t bring up another’s past actions against them, but encourages better behavior in the future
• Love encourages as spiritual growth is worked out
• Love walks, hand in hand, through hard times with others

Once More—LibertySavard2U Website Soon!!!
It’s getting closer and closer! Our projected launch date for LibertySavard2U is August 15th. I am so excited about what Kristine Cotterman of ExodusDesign.com has done for us regarding this new site. Here is our new logo by Kristine (found on the LSM home page at this time) for this new website:

!New LibertySavard2U Logo

We have had so many people in other countries who wanted to be a part of our training, but shipping costs for manuals and teachings were prohibitive. We already have requests for electronic downloads that we will fulfill just as soon as the new site, LibertySavard2U, is launched. This is going to be such fun!

New Keys to Understanding Prayer Laminated Charts
Each of the first four Keys to Understanding Prayer have been turned into 3”x4” Mini Prayer Charts. These charts contain a condensed teaching and a prayer to begin to enact the principles in your life. Check our website for further information. You can link right to them from our home page at libertysavard.com on the web.

We will be sending out our new resource list with this e-mail newsletter for the first time. We hope it is useful.

Liberty LIVE Internet Radio Show
How I enjoy my weekly Liberty LIVE radio show on Wednesday at 2:30 pm Pacific Standard Time! As I have said before, I have my little radio studio in my home office and when I am teaching on the show, I preach to my cat, Gracie (one seriously cool cat as you can see below—this was not staged, she actually crawled into the sunglasses at the edge of a patch of sun). She is going to get saved any day now, I’m sure. We are hearing from many of you with prayer requests. While our time slot is not what we wanted and we don’t seem to get many live listeners, our archived downloads of our shows are in the hundreds for some of the shows. Now that is exciting! Join us, won’t you?

We have a radio icon on the home page of our website. Unfortunately, you must have a high speed internet connection to get the program. Some of the programs have been so exciting for me, I will be putting them on the new website in mp3 format for free downloads.

Time For a Little Computer Humor!

At a recent computer expo (COMDEX), Bill Gates reportedly compared the computer industry with the auto industry and stated: “If GM had kept up with technology like the computer industry has, we would all be driving $25.00 cars that got 1,000 miles to the gallon.”

In response to Bill’s comments, General Motors is supposed(?) to have issued a press release stating: “If GM had developed technology like Microsoft, we would all be driving cars with the following characteristics”:

• For no reason whatsoever, your car would crash twice a day.
• Every time they repainted the lines in the road, you would have to buy a new car.
• Occasionally your car would die on the freeway for no reason. You would have to pull to the side of the road, close all of the windows, shut off the car, restart it, and reopen the windows before you could continue. For some reason you would simply accept this.
• Occasionally, executing a maneuver such as a left turn would cause your car to shut down and refuse to restart, in which case you would have to reinstall the engine.
• Macintosh would make a car that was powered by the sun, was reliable, five times as fast and twice as easy to drive—but would run on only five percent of the roads.
• The oil, water temperature, and alternator warning lights would all be replaced by a single “This Car Has Performed An Illegal Operation” warning light.
• The airbag system would ask “Are you sure?” before deploying.
• Occasionally, for no reason whatsoever, your car would lock you out and refuse to let you in until you simultaneously lifted the door handle, turned the key and grabbed hold of the radio antenna.
• Every time a new car was introduced car buyers would have to learn how to drive all over again because none of the controls would operate in the same manner as the old car.
• You’d have to press the ‘Start’ button to turn the engine off

This is one of the funniest things I’ve read in a long time!

Questions and Answers

Hi, Rev. Liberty: I learned from your books that it’s not necessary to state the details of my prayer requests. I appreciate that, as I would take up so much of your time, otherwise. The binding and loosing prayers will cover everything. I am born-again, but I am really battling right now. LG

LG: I am encouraged to hear that you know you can ask for agreement for prayer and because God knows everything, you don’t need to give your request in detail. Sometimes restating our concerns over and over can reinforce our fears and our discouragement.

You show an understanding of God’s faithfulness and attention to the details of your life, while also understanding the power of prayer agreement. Right agreement with God and with others is the most powerful way of impacting anything and everything on earth for His good purposes. So, I am praying with you, and for you and your family, today using the Keys of the Kingdom. God bless, Liberty

Hi Liberty! I’m glad to hear that you are doing better! I’ve been praying for you. I am struggling with some kind of stronghold in my life that I don’t understand. I find it extremely difficult to respond when I am attacked by someone else; I think that this is an excessive struggle, more so than what most people undergo.

My first instinct is to not say anything at all and not even react at all. Even though I don’t hurt anyone with this reaction, I have come to believe that this really does not please God. I really want to be a light to the world, but I don’t feel free to be that.

I know that God is working in my life, and I have been praying the binding and loosing prayers, sometimes many times a day. After much prayer this week, I actually spoke out in love when I was attacked. It was like God just took my mouth and started talking!!!

I have been loosing all generational bondage thinking, and I have loosed the power, effects, and influences of all word curses spoken to, about, or by me. I have also loosed the power, effects, and influences of all soul ties that I have formed with anyone or that anyone has formed with me, all the while binding myself to Christ and His will and purposes for my life.

I don’t know why standing up against personal attacks against my character is such a tremendous struggle for me, but this seems to be a recurrent picture, and I really don’t want to go around this Mt. Sinai one more time. Can you help shed some insight into this? I would really appreciate your prayers. Love and prayers, Darcy

Darcy: Thank you for your prayers. First of all, let me reiterate what a stronghold is—backed up by the Greek explanation of the word as it is used in 2 Corinthians 10:3-5. Strongholds are mental traps created out of the logic, reasoning, rationalization, justification, defensiveness, and denial that our soul uses to defend what it has chosen to believe.

This belief can be a defense mechanism, a wrong attitude, a wrong belief about someone else, a rationalization of not forgiving and letting go of an offense, or a wrong interpretation of God’s will and Word.

You are praying right binding and loosing prayers. Add one thing: loose the power and effects of any wrong agreements you have made or even those others have made about you and you have just accepted them. These wrong agreements could fall into the category of having been threatened about keeping a secret and you agreed, as well as making wrong agreements with someone who was seeking something from you and promised you something in return. I hope this helps, I prayed for you today. In His Name, Liberty

I wrote to you last week out of sheer desperation (thank you for the response—didn’t expect that!), but today I have another question. On page 91 of the SYS book, you say, “If you truly trust God, then you can know that He will help heal and neutralize any pains and fears connected with their exposure.” Distrust is my biggest problem and therefore I feel that because it is so hard for me to truly trust God in my heart that this stronghold will never come down. I’m sure I have some thought problems in this area—what should I do? I truly want to see all the strongholds come down and be free to testify to that which I have SEEN and speak of that which I KNOW. I have met so many women with strongholds wanting to be free and I would love to show them how they can. sThank you. RJ

RJ: I’ve known many, many women who say the same thing. Your soul is maintaining control of your life by feeding your fear of trusting and keeping it on artificial life support. This benefits your soul because it keeps you from responding to God’s opportunities and His love.

Reading the Word with focus and a determination and mind set that you want to learn how to trust, beginning with God, together with binding your mind and emotions to Him and loosing fearful stronghold thinking will help you break through this. This might be difficult to accept—but it doesn’t matter any more what caused you to begin distrusting others. Whatever happened, it is over. Your soul is holding you in bondage to your unresolved past.

Keep praying the prayers and declaring that you want to learn how to trust God completely. As you read the Word, keep declaring that you want to fully trust in and believe the good things you are reading. You cannot be counseled into fully trusting others. You cannot be counseled into forgiving those who have betrayed or hurt you. But you can loose all of the old painful residue and thought patterns and mind sets that keep your distrust and unforgiveness in place. Praying and believing in God’s Words written to you can help you break through. I prayed for you today. Liberty

Good morning, Liberty! I read Shattering your Strongholds and am re-reading it. I am a Christian, prayer warrior, and hurting. I pray your prayers and I know I have strongholds in me that I am slowly tearing down.

My daughter is backslidden. She has permanently defiled her body with tattoos. She has always been healthy. Recently a mole has turned nasty looking. I know I could pray and bind the affliction/cancer/whatever…but I don’t want too. Isn’t that crazy!! I want her to hurt as much as she’s hurt me. I want something to get her attention so she will return to truth!
I have always prayed your prayers over her and I pray blessings into her life. Do I need to stop protecting her through prayer? Thanks, CW

CW: You need to know that you are up against stronghold thinking on your daughter’s part. She is rationalizing and justifying what she is doing, regardless of the cost. As you pray the binding and loosing prayers you need to be binding her to the will of God, binding her mind to the mind of Christ, and binding her emotions to the healing balance and comfort of the Holy Spirit.

Then you need to loose wrong thinking, wrong beliefs, deception and denial, the effects and influences of wrong agreements, and the works of the enemy from her. Then you need to ask God to pour out His love, mercy, grace, strength, and encouragement upon her. You need to believe that He has heard you and that He is working in the situation and turn the outcome of it to Him.

Then you need to pray the SAME exact prayer for yourself. In fact, be sure to pray this exact same prayer for yourself each time you pray for her. I am quite concerned by a line you wrote in this message: “I want her to hurt as much as she’s hurt me. I want something to get her attention so she will return to truth!”

The Bible tells us clearly it is the goodness of God that draws all men and women to Him.

You need to loose negative words and words curses from her that you have spoken and thought. Thoughts have a way of spilling out of our mouths. Ask God to forgive you and loose wrong attitudes from yourself, too. I would strongly suggest that you get a copy of my book, The Unsurrendered Soul so that you can understand more about what is going on in your daughter’s soul and in your own soul. I, too, have a daughter who is backslidden and out in the world. This is how I pray for her and it helps me stay open to her and calm in the assurance that God is on the job and working. Feeling distraught and angry is a symptom of not really trusting that God loves your daughter and you, that He is working on what is best for her and you. I prayed for both of you, today. Liberty

Testimonies

Dear Liberty: In Module Two of my Long Distance Training studies (The Unsurrendered Soul), Roseanne talks about some people just struggling through life, just trying to get by; she talks about Band-Aid people and this really helped me clarify my beliefs.

I am one of those Band-Aid people she talks about. I was never taught how to process things, how to determine why things keep going wrong so I never (and still don’t) know how to change my behavior patterns to prevent future problems. That is why your books are such a life saver to me. The way I handled life was to ignore the elephant in the room by fantasy—books and movies, and eating and sleeping and, of course, my prescription drugs.

I agree 100% with Rosanne that the Church doesn’t know “how to work with God to be healed,” so it can’t teach those of us who are the walking wounded. In my own case I have learned something interesting in trying to teach myself Chess. I have discovered that I seem unable to be aggressive or proactive and plan any kind of attack strategy. I only react to my opponent’s moves. This is very frustrating to me. It is like there is a wall in my head that I just can’t get past.

In my childhood I was taught not to make decisions because whatever decision I made would be wrong. So I needed outside help (my mother) in order to make right choices. My poor mother—she was so busy trying to keep me safe and protected, doing God’s job. I’m not sure even now if she has a personal relationship with God.

I have just finished your exercise in my study manual on listing issues that your soul may be hiding from you where you are out of agreement with God’s will. I wanted to share this revelation with you. In the past I have shared my problems about critical thinking with you. My critical thinking has grieved me!

What the Holy Spirit just showed me has to do with my unsurrendered soul’s deception of trying to be perfect in my own power. My soul has used my desire to be a weapon to keep bashing me on the head with so I wouldn’t notice that it wasn’t surrendering to God. I was not supposed to recognize that I was not letting Him conform me to Christ. Being critical has been a distraction that my soul used to completely fool me.

The Holy Spirit also gave me the example of a drowning swimmer being rescued to understand this. The drowning person has a difficult time relaxing and letting the rescuer do the work of saving. I was drowning in criticism, but now I can relax and let God rescue me. My unsurrendered soul no longer has criticism to use as a weapon here.

Praise God! Your student, Chris

Who and What is LIBERTY SAVARD MINISTRIES?

Reverend Liberty S. Savard, President of Liberty Savard Ministries, Inc. (a non-profit corporation), was born again in 1972. She is an ordained minister with credentials from the Evangelical Church Alliance (P.O. Box 9, Bradley, Illinois 60915). Rev. Savard has served as a singles director, associate pastor, speaker, and Bible teacher. She is the author of Shattering Your Strongholds (1993 Bridge-Logos Pub.), Breaking the Power (1997 Bridge-Logos Pub.), Producing the Promise (1999 Bridge-Logos Pub.), and several mini-books and workbooks. With The Unsurrendered Soul (2002 Bridge-Logos Pub.), Apples of Gold in Baskets of Silver (2003 Bridge-Logos Pub.), and BEYOND Shattered Strongholds (2005 Bridge-Logos Pub.), she now has 14 books in print around the world.

This ministry believes the Scriptures are inspired of God, infallible, and fully authoritative for Christian faith and conduct. Jesus Christ, the Son of God, was born of a virgin, lived a sinless life on Earth, died on the cross in a substitutionary work of redemption for mankind, rose again and now sits at the right hand of the Father. Through Christ’s shed blood and renewal of the Holy Ghost, justified by grace through faith, man becomes an heir of God with absolute hope of eternal life.

This ministry teaches Christians how to cause their unsurrendered souls (old natures) to surrender to the will and purposes of God. LSM also teaches Christians how to loose emotional baggage from their souls to create room within themselves to receive all God has promised to them for today. This allows believers to fulfill their destinies while walking in knowledge and power to bring glory and honor to God the Father! This ministry also teaches God’s people how to pray with the Keys of the Kingdom (Matthew 16:19) to impact things on earth so they come into alignment with God’s already established will in heaven. This ministry is also dedicated to training Christians how to pray purely without “want lists” and instruction manuals for God (so He will know how best to answer their prayers!). Effective prayers with pure motives declare that God’s will shall be done on Earth as He has so set it in heaven.
