NOTES FROM THE AUTHOR: I was inspired to do one last update and rewrite of God's GPS for Your Soul. I finished the final version (2014) a few days ago and I want to present new passages and excerpts below for your consideration (IT IS REALLY, REALLY HARD FOR THIS AUTHOR TO LET GO OF A NEW BOOK)! See Introductory Special at end of newsletter!

Word from the Author

Instead of researching more of what I thought people should want to know and understand about the Keys of the Kingdom, I decided to let struggling and anxious Christians tell me what their most troubling issues and pressing questions about the Keys actually were. I used a Q&A format to do this. Bundles and bundles of questions have come in through e-mail, snail mail, and my automated voice mail (916-721-7770).

I have used these questions (anonymously) as spring-boards to dive into the issues presented (some very difficult). My last newsletter had many excerpts from the next-to-the-final version of this book. Put them together with these excerpts and you’ll probably have at least 1/4 of the whole book already!

The World’s Dead End or His Highway to Heaven? IT'S YOUR CHOICE!

MY OPENING QUESTION IN THE BOOK: What do you think is the major stumbling block to our Christianity today?

The Christian’s biggest problem today is too much identification with the issues of his or her unsurrendered soul and its ungodly fixation upon itself and the world.

How discouraging and hopeless it would be if your Christian peace and victory could be affected, even controlled, by others who were carnal, unforgiving, and soulish? One of the hardest things for many believers to understand and believe is that difficult, manipulative people cannot affect your Christian walk unless your unsurrendered soul lets them! Pain may be caused by what the world and others have done to you—but suffering is what you do to yourself when you build monuments to your pain by refusing to let go of it. We’re all subject to pain, but we are the ones who make the choice to hold onto it. With God’s help, we learn that we don’t have to hold on to that anymore.

It is OUR choice whether or not to hold on to our pain; WHAT A CONCEPT!

If you refuse to acknowledge mistakes you have made, as well as refuse to forgive mistakes others have made against you, your unsurrendered soul will keep your life in a painful, ongoing state of turmoil. The control systems it uses to ensure this is reinforced by your stronghold thinking which consists of the rationalizations, justifications, denial, and deception that you use to stubbornly defend what you believe about:

- Why you are the way you are.
- Why others are the way they are.
- Why it is so hard for you to really love others.
- Why you think others don’t really love you.
- Why it is so hard for you to forgive.
- Why you don’t feel forgiven.
Why you want to get even.
Why you think others want to get even with you.

and finally, why you may be living so far beneath your heritage today as a child of the most high God.

Stronghold thinking protects these lies by justifying and rationalizing that:

- You have been hurt too much to change.
- You have been hurt too much to love freely.
- You have been hurt too much to forgive.
- You deserve to see others suffer for what they did.
- You are doing the best you can, considering all the unfair burdens you have had to bear.

Then the biggest lie of all surfaces:

Your unsurrendered soul tells you that God knows all the terrible things you’ve been through, and He doesn’t expect you to have to do the heavy lifting of obedience and forgiveness and surrender like other Christians who haven’t suffered as much as you have. Big lie!

Living under this lie is far harsher than facing and embracing the truth that will heal you and set you free! The loosing Key of prayer will open up your unsurrendered soul’s ugly old filing cabinets and empower you to purge them! You will be able to cooperate with God’s truth and His healing! Sound too scary? Do you trust that the God who made you is at the level it should be? You are doing the best you can, considering all the unfair burdens you have had to bear.

I bind myself to your timing, Lord. I know I move in human understanding of time and my impatience can pressure and distort my ability to see your ongoing work in my life. Help me to know when to move when you want me to move and when to stand when you want me to stand. I loose all preconceived ideas I have about what you are doing, what you should do, how you should do it, and WHEN you should do it. I bind my will to your will and I bind my mind to the mind of Christ. I bind my emotions to the healing balance and comfort of the Holy Spirit. I loose all distractions and reactions of my emotions that may still be inflamed from unhealed hurts and unresolved issues from my past, and I loose the works of the enemy from myself. Jesus came to Earth to destroy (loose) the works of the enemy, and He has given me the Keys of the Kingdom to do likewise. Thank you for your care and your love, in His Name, Amen.

Here’s a mini prayer to help you be encouraged whenever any hard feelings try to come back and bite you:

Lord, I feel angry right now, but I don’t want the consequences of giving the devil room, opportunity, or a foothold in my life (Ephesians 4:26, Amplified). So I bind my mind, will, and emotions to You and I loose all wrong patterns of thinking from myself. Soul, let them go! I loose all the works of the enemy from myself (I John 3:8, Amplified). The price is too high for me to hang on to them. The freedom that will come from releasing them is too sweet not to pursue, Amen.

The consequences of disobeying God’s command that you must not go to bed angry may be softened by acknowledging the sin, repenting for having committed it (repenting means: you are sorry, you change your direction, you change your

ANSWER:

You are doing the best you can, considering all the unfair burdens you have had to bear.

QUESTION:

What is the problem with just thinking the binding and loosing prayers in your mind?

ANSWER:

Your unsurrendered soul and the enemy can mess with your thinking if your mind is not solidly fortified with the Word and daily communion with God. Are you sure that yours is at the level it should be?

There is power generated through any form of synergy (synergy is the interaction of two or more agents or forces that results in their combined total effort being greater than the sum of their individual efforts). You need the synergy of your mind, will, and emotions when you are praying. The following is an example of the synergy of the three parts of your being:

When you pray out loud (one delightfully great benefit is that your unsurrendered soul and the enemy both have to listen to you!) while singing, walking, dancing, etc., you are involving your body.

When you think and speak joyfully and confidently while you are praying out loud (even with singing and dancing), you are involving your soul.

When you sing praises about God’s love and goodness, worshipping in dance while you pray joyfully and confidently out loud, you are involving your born-again spirit.

Do this, seek His will, and you can expect God to answer and you can expect to recognize His answers! Don’t be like the very negative man who prayed the binding and loosing prayers for eighteen months and then told me that nothing ever happened. Things were happening in his life: he just had so much negative anticipation and expectations of bad things that he didn’t recognize the answers coming from his prayers until God (and I) rubbed his nose in them!
mind, and you change your behaviors/actions), and then asking the Lord for His forgiveness. You probably will walk through some fire for a while; but if you are sincere, the consequences will begin to settle down.

The Incorruptible Seed of Christ’s perfect life contained His spiritual DNA that was implanted into your spirit at the time of your salvation. Your born-again spirit became encoded with everything that you need to live out all that Paul said in Ephesians 2:10, Amplified Version. This encoding works on the same principle as a tiny apple seed being filled with apple DNA that provides everything it needs to fulfill its destiny of becoming a giant apple tree that bears sweet fruit!

All that God has for those of us who believe in Him—the gifts of the Spirit, power, mercy, grace, and spiritual purpose—is already within you! Your unsurrendered soul has worked feverishly to keep your spiritual DNA from being switched on so to receive from God’s GPS. Your born-again spirit contains spiritual DNA that is divinely encoded and fully loaded with every answer, resource, and ability you’ll ever need to do whatever God calls you to do! Your acknowledgement of His DNA in you and your belief in all it contains will switch it on.

Your born-again spirit contains spiritual DNA that is divinely encoded and fully loaded with every answer, resource, and ability you’ll ever need to do whatever God calls you to do! Your acknowledgement of His DNA in you and your belief in what it contains will switch it on.

Your answer, your calling, and His guidance instructions are not out there somewhere in the unknown future—they are already inside you RIGHT NOW. You probably have not realized this because your unsurrendered soul has worked throwing up every blockade it can to prevent the activation of His DNA in you. Loose (smash, crush, and destroy) your unsurrendered soul’s blocking and jamming agendas and begin cooperating with God’s GPS agenda right now!

It doesn’t matter if you are not rich, can’t write, can’t draw, can’t sing, can’t act, and can’t play the piano or the guitar! It doesn’t matter if you don’t have the perfect look, weight, height, or voice. It doesn’t matter if you’ve made mistakes, if you have the wrong background, or if you do not have influential relatives in the ministry. You need to pray with the Keys of the Kingdom to shatter and destroy the deceptions, wrong beliefs, and wrong ideas your unsurrendered soul has been using to discourage you. Then let God be God in your life. He’ll lift you into your end times’ messenger position of favor and great influence—just as you are! Pray this prayer:

In the Name of Jesus Christ, I bind my body, soul, and spirit to the will and purposes of God for my Kingdom destiny. I bind my mind to the mind of Christ so that I can hear His words of truth and encouragement. I bind my tattered and torn emotions to your healing comfort and balance, Holy Spirit. Lord, I want to be free of all the bondages and baggage I’ve been carrying all my life. Only You can fix and strengthen me so I can fulfill the glorious purposes You have for me! Amen

We eat food that our bodies do not need; we do this for many different reasons. Sometimes we eat to chemically elevate our moods. Sometimes we eat to chemically dull our thoughts into oblivion. Sometimes we eat to chemically soothe ourselves when we are feeling rejected, unloved, or inadequate. Some eat to try to fill up a sense of great emptiness inside themselves. We obviously eat when we are just bored. When you finally recognize that you are not a victim here, but you are a willing participant in this deception, then you will pray Kingdom prayers with more conviction. Read the following carefully until you make sure that you understand it and believe it: The misuse of food is not spiritually legal for self-medication or any form of self-comfort!

IMPORTANT INFORMATION: Let me reinforce the fact that your binding and loosing prayers will not be as successful as you hope unless you are positive that you really want them to succeed! Think about it.

Your mind will always move towards the dominant thoughts that are in play within itself, unless you know how to prevent its doing so. What are the dominant thoughts in your mind?

QUESTION: I don’t really have a question. I just want to say thank you for all the work you have done to put your books out. Thanks to you, I almost have killed my unsurrendered soul. I know that it won’t be long before it will be dead and I’ll be completely free! Judi

ANSWER: Whoa, that’s not the goal here, Judi! Your unsurrendered soul is made up of your unrenewed mind, your unhealed emotions, and your unsurrendered will. You need all of them. You just want them in a healed and cooperative state so God can victoriously guide you to your destiny.

You need them (the three components of your unsurrendered soul) to submit to God’s will; you don’t want to kill them! Pray this:

Lord, I bind my mind, will, and emotions to your will and purposes for my life. I do not want my unsurrendered soul to establish any more hiding places for its wrong beliefs and bad attitudes. I do not want my unsurrendered soul to keep trying to justify and rationalize its deception and denial any longer. I do not want my mind looking for ways to rephrase its fear and its anger. I do not want my emotions reacting like fireworks or rain clouds.
I obligate my will to yours, my mind to the mind of Christ, and my emotions to the healing balance and comfort of the Holy Spirit. Lord, I know that I need some soulish demolition and spiritual clean up. Just like an urban renewal project, I want to bring in your spiritual heavy equipment to tear down high walls that have been protecting any deception and denial in me. My safety equipment is my ability to bind myself to you—body, soul, and spirit—which I now choose to do. My demolition equipment is the Kingdom Key of loosing. I want to loose, smash, crush, and destroy my unsurrendered soul’s wrong beliefs, denial, and error that it keeps clinging to so tightly. I lose all these things right now.

I do not want any error standing between You and me. Thank you for these Keys, Jesus. Amen

QUESTION: I do not see any reason to want to keep living. Life is just too difficult. I am a total loser and I am very tired. Lana

ANSWER: Lana, life is very much worth living and you will realize that when you get out from under the terrible burden of all the toxic waste and control tactics in your unsurrendered soul! Freed from that baggage, you will begin to realize that you are meant to receive joy and peace and complete freedom from God. You just haven’t been in the right place to receive it; it’s like you have been standing in the train station waiting for someone who is going to come in at the airport.

Depression and a desire to end your life are the outcome of your unsurrendered soul’s realization that no matter what it does, it can never fix the pain and hopelessness you feel. Only God can, but your unsurrendered soul is not about to concede to that if it can help it! God’s been waiting for you to take down your unsurrendered soul’s defenses and invite Him fully into your life so He can show you what He wants to do for you. You won’t need an armored car or combat boots for this effort; simple binding and loosing prayers will begin the process of invading the darkened corners of your mind, opening it up to God, and then flooding it with light.

You don’t have to attend church every day or pray twelve hours a day (none of which would hurt you, by the way!) to cooperate with God as He begins making you whole. Don’t listen to your unsurrendered soul or the enemy telling you that cooperating with God’s healing to become whole will be too much effort and you will never be able to do it. Your spiritual GPS has a very distinct plan and route from God’s GPS for you to follow on this journey (see below):

PRAY the binding and loosing prayers as often as you can, and pray them out loud! You will find these prayers in any of the Keys of the Kingdom Trilogy books (see Glossary at end of this book), also in The Binding and Loosing Prayer Manual, as well as throughout these pages.

READ at least two chapters somewhere in the Bible every day to reinforce your prayers. If you struggle with reading the Word, The Message version is very comforting and easy to read. If you don’t have one, it can be found on the Internet and downloaded at no charge.

THANK God at least three times a day for His love and His blessings and His concern for you. Praise Him for being so faithful to His children.

Lord, the Word says that Jesus left me the binding and loosing Keys of the Kingdom (Matthew 16:19) to help me cooperate with your grace. I don’t know how to cooperate with You, but I know I don’t want to go on feeling hopeless, tired, and discouraged anymore! I want to lie down at night, sleep well, and then wake up looking for You. I bind my mind to your mind, Jesus, trusting that I will be able to hear your thoughts instead of the dark thoughts that have been in my mind for so long. I bind my wounded emotions to your healing balance, Holy Spirit, trusting you to comfort me and cover them with mercy. I believe You will stabilize me. I loose all wrong beliefs I have accepted from my unsurrendered soul and the enemy which have birthed continual discouragement, pain, and fear in me as they kept me bound to my unresolved old memories and my unhealed old hurts. I loose the soul ties I’ve made with others who have darkened minds and wounded emotions, too. Show me how to cooperate with You, step by step. I believe You love me and that You will help me, Amen.

QUESTION: I’ve been a Christian for nearly ten years. Throughout that time, people have told me that God has a special plan for my life. I know other people who are newer in the faith than me, and it seems that they just instinctively know God’s plan for them. I feel like I’m still sitting at square one not moving anywhere.

ANSWER: God wants to guide you into His destiny plans that are just for you, but please know that He doesn’t love you any more if you move at the speed of light into His plans for your life and He won’t love you any less if you are completely confused about moving into His plans at all. There is no one else on Earth who has the same potential to bring God the joy that you can. There is no one else on Earth who can fulfill the plans and purposes He created for you in exactly the same way He meant for you to fulfill them. You’re not just a backup singer in the choir of God’s destinies for His people—you are the lead singer in the choir of your own destiny!

God’s will is NOT multiple choice as many would like to think (and have even been taught in church). We have all, at one time or another, come up with our own maps that we think God will be willing to approve; we proudly tell Him that we are perfectly willing to take Freeway A, B, or C, whichever one He wants! God’s answer to that will always be the NOTA—the None Of The Above freeway. God knows exactly what is best for us, and He doesn’t need our pitiful little maps to help Him guide us to our destinies.

Choose your own freeway and you will find your self-journey harder and harder to navigate. That is because you cannot think the soulish clogs free that you are sure to run into, you will never have solutions for the soulish bridges being out, there will be no safe paths through the soulish flooded roads, and the enemy’s freeway jams will be ferocious!

You have been divinely created to operate in both realms of thinking—finite and infinite—each are important. But you can really get bogged down in the finite realm when you do not follow God’s directions. If you mess up, turn to Him in true repentance (the main key words being: true repentance). He will deliver you from your follies and mistakes and set you back on your way (recalculating, recalculating, recalculating!). The consequences of your finite-thinking mess will probably snap and chew at you for a while, though.

Important Truth: He does not give you divine inspiration and supernatural intervention to pluck you out of hard situations and spiritual traffic jams so you can go back down your own road of self-willed wrong choices. He has very little patience for that!

When you make right choices, in alignment with His will, He accepts the responsibility for the consequences that come from those decisions. When you make self-willed wrong choices, you are responsible for the consequences that will play out—regardless of how bad they are! God will accept our true repentance, forgive us, and give us second chances over and over to follow His will. That’s the good news! The bad news is that the consequences of willfully repeated wrong choices become tougher and tougher, harder and harder, and they gouge our flesh deeper and deeper every time a wrong choice is repeated.

Consequences result from breaking a natural or a spiritual law; consequences are not punishment. If you stick your hand into a fire (not smart and it will really, really hurt!), the burns you will suffer are not punishment! Get this: they are the consequences of the foolish choice you made! Consequences are the natural and spiritual results of your choices, be they right or wrong!

You can make right choices or you can choose to make wrong choices. Whatever kind of consequences that follow will depend upon the choices you decide to make.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION: God rarely intervenes in the walking out of your consequences. He may, however, set up a serious roadblock to a wrong choice that could result in extremely dire consequences, even death, in your life. Some of these roadblocks might seem very harsh; but some lives can only be saved by harsh circumstances!

One of the goals of the binding and loosing prayer principles is to expose and disable your unsurrendered soul’s hamster exercise wheel. This is your unsurrendered soul’s busyness to try to get you to believe that it is working hard to accomplish something good for you and for God. However, no matter how frenzied the activity may be, your unsurrendered soul isn’t doing anything good for you or going anywhere good for God! Use the binding and loosing prayers to disable your unsurrendered soul’s hamster exercise wheel.

You will begin to relax as you realize that you no longer have to figure out the answers. God will guide you through each intersection and fork in the road that you face because His will is already established in Heaven regarding every one of them!

QUESTION: Because of a sin of more than five years ago, I cannot forgive myself. I used to pray the prayers in SYS, but I can’t anymore. This thing seems so much bigger than me that I have lost the faith I once had and I am severely depressed. How can I be forgiven?

ANSWER: Let me help you stop that right now with the following three questions:

1. Have you publicly denied that you know Christ? Peter did, but he believed he was forgiven by God and then went on to fulfill a great destiny.

2. Have you committed adultery after having your sexual partner’s spouse murdered so you could? David did, but he believed God forgave and restored him to relationship with Him.

3. Have you murdered and tortured Christians? Paul did, but he believed he was loved by God and forgiven to pursue a great destiny.

These things are written in the Bible to show us the magnitude of God’s love and forgiveness when His children fail. If you cannot forgive yourself, are you saying that your standards for forgiveness are higher than God’s? He will forgive you for terrible deeds, but then He wants your full repentance, a turning away from ever repeating any form of those sins again, and your belief that He has forgiven you.

He does not want you to return to the sins again, He does not want you to brood about them, and He does not want you to cover yourself with sackcloth and ashes. He wants you to ask Him for forgiveness, repent (change your direction, change your behavior, and turn away never to return to the sin), receive forgiveness from Him, and then get on with your life with Him. The binding and loosing prayers will be very helpful in the breaking up of your unsurrendered soul’s... recycling of guilt feelings once you do this. Ongoing, seemingly unresolvable, guilt is not from God; but a plain old godly dose of guilt can drive you to His mercy!

QUESTION: I was working in a very good job with the government when I thought I heard these words: “October 12th is your last day; you are going to have a new boss.” Within four weeks, I resigned from my job and began a new business. Since that time we have lost the business, our friends, our home, our car, and my spouse and I are living with my brother and his wife under stressful situations. How could I have been so wrong?

ANSWER: Sometimes we hear the voices of our unsurrendered souls loudly saying that a certain thing will be really good. It thinks this certain thing could be used for its purposes at some point. When we haven’t dealt with our deepest old issues and don’t recognize unhealed hurts, unmet needs, and unresolved issues sneaking into our thinking, our unsurrendered souls can launch cruel agendas.

You tried to take a step of faith. God will not waste one jot or tittle of what you have been through to help refine any hidden desires in your unsurrendered soul. He knows what He is doing; He controls the realm we live in; and He can bring time, provision, and everyone involved all together perfectly. Go, God! Your situation right now doesn’t have to be a waste of time. Use the time you are with your relatives to work on your relationship skills with them. Work on the same skills with the people in your church while you are waiting for His next direction. You don’t ever have to be ground to a complete halt in your spiritual growth!

IMPORTANT INFORMATION: You will only miss God’s opportunities through disobedience, rebelliousness, and doubt. You won’t miss one of God’s opportunities through a sincere and honest mistake of being an Eager Beaver for Him! You may have to go through a little more training, but that’s okay—really it is!

You may have moved forward too quickly toward what you believed was a divine opportunity. Was it? I’m not sure, but I am sure that God will use every bit of it. You may have been responding to your unsurrendered soul which was bored. Or, more likely, you may have just enrolled yourself in the School of Prerequisites to Your Destiny! I believe you did what you did because of a desire to do the will of God; He will always bless that. Have you blown your divine window of opportunity? No! You’re just having to go through a few sessions of Remedial Walking in the Spirit 101 in His School of Prerequisites to Your Destiny. I would say, after reading what has happened in the past few months, you may have even been put on His Accelerated Learning Track!

God will use everything you have done (right or wrong) to train you to better hear His voice and walk in His timing in your future situations, especially if you are willing to see your current situation through His eyes!

This may have been an extremely important and necessary lesson (a hard one, I know) that you needed to learn about walking in the Spirit. Look around you to learn all you can. See where you can work with other people; see where you can help other people. Helping out at a soup kitchen doesn’t mean God will decide to leave you there. What has happened may be directly related to your learning how to walk in the Spirit on a higher level because a major opportunity might be headed your way! He may have placed each rock you trip over on this path on purpose as they really are disguised nuggets of gold for your destiny training. God is ready to continue moving on with His plans for you; you need to let Him show you how to apply what you are learning.

You’re Not in Your Parents’ Car Anymore

Chapter 8

QUESTION: Liberty, how do I know if anything is happening when I pray the binding and loosing prayers if I can’t see God doing anything in my family members, particularly my parents? I have been so discouraged that I have almost stopped praying at times. Kathy

ANSWER: Kathy, the Keys of the Kingdom Rule #1 is this:

NEVER try to judge what God is or is not doing by what you see in the natural!

If you are praying in right agreement with His will for yourself and for others, He is ALWAYS working in your life and their lives in some manner. I had a mini run-in with one of my difficult people a few months ago and I began to get upset and stressed as I thought, “Here we go again!” As I began to rationalize and justify my wrong thoughts and hurt feeling, I was suddenly confronted with the realization that I was doing exactly what I was telling others they should NOT do in the same situation. Talk about chickens coming home to roost!

I began to loose every instant replay of what this person had said to me. Then I forced myself to admit that I was not certain what the other person had really meant, even if it had hurt me. I had to do this several times over the rest of the afternoon, but I realized a few nights later that it wasn’t bothering me anymore. In fact, I could not remember the specific wording of what this person had said. I used to have an ability that some said I should have earned a Olympic gold medal for—the ability to remember and quote back a negative remark someone said to me, word for word, even years later!

I straightened up, prayed right, and started acting like I was urging others to do; and the circumstance resolved itself. The situation even proved to be quite a bit different from what my unsurrendered soul was trying to push me to believe. The key is to pray the binding and loosing prayers out loud for yourself and for any other person(s) involved IMMEDIATELY! Go out to your car, lock yourself in the bathroom or a closet, stick your nose deep into a filing cabinet drawer, cover your mouth with your jacket or with your purse, but pray out loud or even in a whisper—IMMEDIATELY!

Praying right prayers immediately means praying them the second wrong thought patterns begin invading your thoughts (REGARDLESS of how true or fair they seem!). Praying right prayers immediately means praying them the second you realize you would really like to straighten the other person out, get even with the other person, put duct tape over the other person’s mouth, or slam dunk the other person because he or she just won’t listen to you! Praying right prayers IMMEDIATELY, even though it isn’t always easy to pray right prayers for the other person, is the best way to get to a peaceful, blessed, and true answer for everyone involved.

QUESTION: I always tried to honor my parents, but they were so critical of everything I ever did. My whole family is extremely critical of me. I feel like I can’t win. I feel like no one accepts anything I say or do. What am I missing here?

ANSWER: You say that your parents and other family members are extremely critical of you. I think you are probably overlooking a missing link here—the power of prayer by you. You need to be looking forward to what you can do now, instead of what has happened in the past. This is an exciting prayer assignment for you; you have an opportunity to break this bondage from your family. Start with the following prayer:

I bind my mind to your mind, Jesus, and I ask You to speak your thoughts into my unsurrendered soul as I loosen, tear off, and shatter any generational-bondage thinking that has my thinking clogged up. For every square inch that is freed in me, please pour in your grace, mercy, and love.

I loose all generational-bondage thought patterns from myself, from my difficult people, from my parents, and from my children. Please teach all of us how to develop new patterns of thinking about, acting toward, and speaking to each other. Please show us how to be supportive of each other. As I loosen my old wrong attitudes and patterns of thinking and speaking, I will replace them with good seeds sown for a harvest of harmony and love in my family. I will be the first one to sow these good seeds. I will speak words of encouragement, I will speak words of affirmation, I will speak words of nurturing, I will speak words of affirmation, and I will speak words of love. I will act encouraged, I will do deeds that comfort others, and I will try to think like Jesus would think. Show me and my family members how we can be at rest with each other in your presence.

You, God, are greater than any not-yet-healed bad memories we have. You know everything and love us anyway, Amen.

I the Lord speak righteousness (the truth—trustworthy, straightforward correspondence between deeds and words). I declare things that are right (Isaiah 45:19, Amplified)

The truth is trustworthy and straightforward correspondence between your deeds and your words. We must loose the old patterns and old ways we have communicated with others; then we must speak with a trustworthy, straightforward correspondence between our deeds and words as we trust the Holy Spirit to help us do so. We must believe that God will empower us in new ways of communicating with each other. All of our efforts, good or bad, will come back to each of us!

QUESTION: I am really struggling to break free from not being able to forgive emotional and spiritual neglect and abuse by my parents, my family, and my old church—especially when I have spoken up to them about it and they take no responsibility for what they have gotten away with. They have had good things all their lives while they deny others any help. I still have unmet needs, no love, and no vindication. I have been waiting 28 years for needs to be met, begging God to compensate me for all that was stolen, never given, and that I still need! Why am I still waiting? Angela

ANSWER: Angela, you cannot make other people be accountable for actions or words they don’t want to own. You can only be accountable for what you decide to own. You need to STOP owning the pain and the trauma of everything that you feel has been done to you in the past. That is like someone sending a bomb in a box to your house by FED EX, and you don’t know how to not accept and then own it because someone put your name and address on the delivery slip. That is what you have done for 28 years! The saying that pain is inevitable, but long-term suffering is your choice, really does fit here.

I can only help you by telling you the truth of how to get out of the terrible trap you have allowed your unsurrendered soul to put into place around you. You are the only one who can cooperate with God by hearing and doing what I say next: You can walk away free from your pain if you will forgive your parents and all the others you are still blaming.

Your parents didn’t bring you into this world and then say, “Hey, here’s an idea! Let’s make this kid miserable and neglect her and abuse her.” Your parents gave you whatever acceptance and love they knew how to give.

None of us are born knowing how to love and nurture. We learn this from role models who have the most impact on our lives—usually our parents. If they never received love and nurturing from their parents or the adult authority figures in their lives, they probably never learned how to give love and nurturing. So, they gave you what they could.

Each generation learns what the previous generation teaches it; they then pass it on to the next generation, usually harming innocent people if God is not allowed to show someone how to intervene and break any negative cycles passed forward. He wants you to break that cycle of generational bondage in your family’s life once and for all so He can fill you and them with His love! He wants you to show them what love and forgiveness and grace and mercy looks and feels like; He wants you to know, too. You cannot fix your family and your family cannot fix you. Only God can, and He wants to do so through you (immeasurably blessing you in the process)!

God will NEVER heal you or fix the lack your unsurrendered soul has stubbornly determined to grieve over until it has been reimbursed for it. Your unsurrendered soul is determined that your parents have to pay for what they did to or did not do for you. God wants to heal you by helping you to walk out of that choke hold that has been strangling you for 28 years. By your insisting for some kind of payback (which God will never give you), you are only intensifying the pain in your life. Here is a mini prayer for you to pray:

Lord, your Word says that if I love You and I am full of your Word, I will have great peace and nothing shall offend me. I’m feeling very hurt and offended right now and there is certainly no peace in my thoughts; so I need your help. I bind my will to your will, my mind to the mind of Christ, and my emotions to the healing balance and comfort of the Holy Spirit. I know that I have ignored the intention of Scriptures and your commandments in order to validate and justify my beliefs about not having to forgive other people. It seemed to work for a while, but it is not working anymore! If You tell me that I must forgive, please show me how; please help me! I feel that I can’t go back; I can’t go forward; and it hurts too much to be stuck here. Amen.

Riding With Your Kids and Other Relatives

Chapter 10

QUESTION: I’m disappointed in how these prayers are not working for me. I have prayed them and expected some very specific things to happen with my children and nothing I wanted has happened. What’s up?

ANSWER: The binding and loosing prayers are designed to help someone pray for God’s will for themselves and for others. They are designed to change the hearts of those who pray them as well as the hearts of those who are named in the prayers. These prayers are not designed as a new way for you to inform God what you want to happen in your children’s lives or how He should bring it to pass. These prayers do not give you any right to expect Him to do what you want. One of the biggest lies that unsurrendered souls will put forth as soon as this kind of praying starts is that these prayers will make things happen exactly as you want and something is wrong if they don’t.

Wrong, wrong, wrong!

Unfortunately, when things don’t turn out as expected (after some have prayed the binding and loosing prayers, sometimes only once or twice), people are disappointed because they thought they were praying get-answers-you-want-quick prayers. God answers the binding and loosing prayers that seek His will, both for His way and for those who prayed. After binding your will and your children’s wills to God’s will, your mind and their minds to the mind of Christ, and your emotions and their emotions to the healing balance and comfort of the Holy Spirit, add this prayer:

> I loose the effects and influences of all my wrong words from __________. I declare that You are God, and I believe that You love me and You love __________. I know that You alone know what is best for him/her. Thank You for being so faithful to me and to my loved ones. Amen.

QUESTION: I think I may have a soul tie with an unrequited love from my past. Do you think there is still an unhealthy tie here because I think about him from time to time? How many times should I pray the Breaking Soul Ties prayer in Breaking the Power to get free from any fantasizing about what might have been if I had married him?

ANSWER: When you choose to fantasize about something that is outside of God’s will and plans for you, it will always lead to trouble. I would urge you to pray and loose/break any past wrong agreements and soul ties that may still be operative here. Depending on how important this soul tie may still be to you and how strong your unsurrendered soul is, you may have to pray the Breaking Soul Tie Prayer several times to make sure the tie is permanently severed. When it is severed, let it stay severed!

Some people have an entire operetta they can sing about how they have (or had) no choice in some circumstance. This is not true! You always have a choice! Your choices are as simple as this—are you going to obey or disobey God? It is better to draw your last breath and go to Heaven right now having obeyed God to the best of your ability than it is to believe God will just have to forgive you for disobedience because you had no other choice. Mercy, mercy, that would be a huge presumption, a word that I am absolutely sure is on God’s list of His least favorite words.

The Online Free Dictionary describes presumption as a behavior or attitude that is boldly arrogant or offensive.

I believe when you think of this person, you are probably feeling vulnerable and unsure because something has activated your unmet needs and feelings of insecurity. This can cause you to indulge in the deceptive fantasy that he would have made your life complete. This, of course, is not true. No human being can ever meet all of another human’s unmet needs, especially unmet needs that are sending out fantasy thoughts like yours.

The instant any fantasizing starts in your mind is when you need to pray the binding and loosing prayers. Don’t plan on doing it later when it is more convenient; find a car, a bathroom, a closet, or a desk drawer to stick your head into and then fill your unsurrendered soul with words of binding and loosing prayers and praise for an ever faithful God. Speak out loud, even if it is only in a whisper. Verbalizing the prayers out loud will help to shut down the fantasizing.

Some soul ties are severed with a one-time praying. In other cases, one or both of the unsurrendered souls involved may try to reconnect them and you must pray and break them several more times.

KNOW THIS: Breaking and severing a soul tie is NOT a divine healing or an act of God! Severing a soul tie is a spiritual and natural action you must choose to complete!

Sometimes we come into wrong agreements with others when we feel extremely lonely or feel an intense need to know that another human cares. Binding and loosing prayers will break up some of the layers of self-deception and self-denial that your unsurrendered soul has formed over the areas where you are the most vulnerable. God will not violate those defense systems by forcing His way into your vulnerabilities to resolve them—you must choose to expose them with the Keys of the Kingdom prayers.

QUESTION: Are there ever any good soul ties, like between family members, married people, or parents and their children?

ANSWER: NO, THERE IS NO SUCH THING AS A GOOD SOUL TIE WITH ANYONE!

Think about it; are there any good muddy roads you want to know about so you can travel on them even though they have potholes and sinkholes and dangerous drop offs into deep chasms? When you are involved in a soul tie with anyone, that other person is able to influence, manipulate, and ultimately control the choices you make if they choose to. They can influence you overtly or your unsurrendered soul can influence you into doing things to please or appease the other person. When God’s input comes in second, trouble and sin are already lurking at your doorstep, ready to come in first.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION: Soul ties between husband and wife produce mutual decisions between them with turning to God only as an afterthought. This keeps Him on the outer edges of their relationship and their choices. Christians with soul ties to their mates ask God to bless their decisions after they have already made them, insisting, “We asked God to bless our choice, but nothing happened. It looks like He ignored us.” God needs to be involved first and up front in every stage of the decision process.

Christian parents with soul ties to their children seem to function well enough in their own spiritual walks until something happens in the lives of their children. Then the parents begin falling apart in panic with an overwhelming need to fix things. One Christian mother used to call me regularly about a son who was in and out of all kinds of trouble. Every time he was about to be swallowed up by serious consequences, she would call me to pray—then she would run to rescue him. The wrong agreement here was that she was the only one who could rescue him which gave her a sense of being loved and needed by him. This woman’s son may have loved her, but he was using her to enable him to remain the way he was and live as he wanted.

True faith, genuine trust and confidence in God, will not fall apart when a beloved child is in trouble. This is when you need to press into your faith, trust and confidence in Him, knowing that He is fully aware of what is happening. You need to surrender to this truth: God may want to teach your child something important from the hard circumstance. Its consequences may be vital to his or her life; maybe he or she is too stubborn to learn that important truth any other way.

A parent should be binding his or her own will to God’s will regarding every decision and direction given to a son or daughter. Sometimes we don’t really pray for our children’s best interests; we pray about what stresses us the most, not admitting that we are praying selfishly for ourselves. An overbearing parent is often thinking of their own peace of mind more than their children’s benefit. Too often, we beg God to change our children because they are causing us stress, irritating us, bugging us, or even embarrassing us. In other words, they are disturbing our peace of mind.

Ask yourself about every choice you make regarding your decisions about your children: “Am I trying to teach Buddy or Susie to obey God, or do I really just want them to obey me because it would be more convenient?” The motivation behind decisions made and directions given by parents will be judged by God. If more parents sought God regarding their motivation in their child-rearing decisions, they would make more choices for the benefit of the child’s spiritual growth instead of for their own convenience. Children would grow up with less resentment and unresolved anger in their souls today.
QUESTION: Why can’t I stop fantasizing about things, and settle for what I have? What stronghold or strongholds are involved here?

ANSWER: Your unsurrendered soul has learned to comfort itself with certain fantasy thought patterns, an internal form of mental and emotional stimulation and as well as a form of soothing yourself. At some point during a very traumatic or frightening time, you learned how to stimulate a sense of well-being in yourself (mentally, emotionally, or physically). This self-stimulation released endorphins throughout your whole body (internal feel-good hormones that your body and soul loves) and they brought relief and a sense of well-being. You may believe that you are the only one who really cares how you feel. This form of stronghold thinking reinforces and justifies the belief that you have to initiate your own sense of well-being by fantasizing. You may even create fantasies about other’s feelings toward you.

Bind your will to the will of God, bind your mind to the mind of Christ, and bind your damaged emotions to the healing balance and comfort of the Holy Spirit. Loose wrong thought patterns, wrong beliefs, confusion, and the deception and denial you have about God not caring about you. Loose the effects of the endorphin tracks that the repetition of these self-stimulated releases have etched into your brain. Renew your brain/mind by repeatedly reading the Word (loosing wrong thoughts you may have that the Word will never make you feel as good as your fantasizing can). Ask God to help you learn how to accept new spiritual means of satisfaction, encouragement, and good feelings in yourself.

Laughter, exercise, worship, singing, and creative activity all increase the flow of endorphins within your body to elevate your moods, short circuit the pain circuit to your brain, help repair your immune system, and they also have anti-depressant qualities. Studies have shown that endorphin-deficient people are more prone to addictive personalities and being depressed than other people. If your parents were endorphin deficient, causing them to be addictive or depressed, you may have grown up with little exposure to laughter, creative activity, and exercise. Your endorphin flow may not have been stimulated during your childhood, nor perhaps even into your teen years and beyond. It is truly exciting that God has made it possible for you to kick it into action right now!

The word endorphin means morphine within. You have your own natural pain killer, stress reducer, and immune system repair go-juice within you, compliments of your God. Wow! Spend time every day to increase and enjoy the benefits of His endorphin therapy!

QUESTION: My church is dying, and I feel that I am at my limit. I have been patient with my pastor, telling him about your books and other books on the end times. He is just not interested in them. I have also given your books to others in the church and these people confirm what I am saying. I will not cause disunity in my church; however I cannot deny that God has called me to encourage your material. I am prepared to hand in my resignation as a church leader over this issue, as I believe I have much to offer. I am ready to shake the dust off my shoes. What do you think? TW

ANSWER: Dear TW, I think you need to increase praying the binding and loosing prayers for yourself. Your unsurrendered soul is pushing you very hard to separate from this church which probably isn’t God’s will at all! Bind your mind to the mind of Christ, and loose the effects and influences of your emotional reactions to the lack of interest your pastor has shown for what you have said to him. Repent of any wrong agreements you have made with others about this, and begin to speak right agreements over your church and your pastor. Start by declaring that God’s established will in Heaven for the pastor and for this body of believers to be done on Earth.

Understand [this], my beloved brethren. Let every man be quick to hear [a ready listener], slow to speak, slow to take offense and to get angry. For man’s anger does not promote the righteousness God [wishes and requires] (James 1:19-20, Amplified).

What if Christ had gotten mad and resigned from His ministry when His message was rejected? Perhaps you have been called to pray behind the scenes for your pastor at this time without any recognition at all. You may be the only person in your church who knows how to pray pure binding and loosing prayers. Think about Joseph languishing in that prison for something he didn’t do—or Daniel in slavery in Babylon—or Paul in the Roman prison. These believers were in very difficult-to-understand situations as God was positioning them for roles of influence and power in the future. What if they had bailed on Him during that time because they did not understand what He was putting into place behind the scenes? What if they felt they should shake the dust off their shoes and hit the road?

Do not let yourselves be [hindrances by giving] an offense to the Jews or to the Greeks or to the church of God [do not lead others into sin by your mode of life]; just as I myself strive to please [to accommodate myself to the opinions, desires, and interests of others, adapting myself to] all men in everything I do, not aiming at or considering my own profit and advantage, but that of the many in order that they may be saved (1 Corinthians 10:32-33, Amplified).

What do you think? TW

I would urge you to ask God to forgive you for any mistakes you have made or believed during this difficult time. Then hold steady and bind your pastor to the will of God as you ask...
God to pour grace and mercy upon him. Do not speak any further wrong agreements or judgments about him to anyone, as God will respond to that in ways that will really complicate your life. Declare that you believe God is working in your pastor’s life giving him truth and understanding so that the church body will prosper and grow. Here is a sample prayer to pray for all the leaders in your church:

Lord, I thank You for every single leader you have placed in our church. I ask you to give them inspiration, stir up their anointing, and bless them with great grace and mercy. I bind them to your will for their lives and for our church. I bind their minds to the mind of Christ, and I ask that You give them understanding and vision. I loose the works of the enemy from everyone in my church. Teach us all how to be more humble and aware of our own wicked ways, always seeking your face and speaking right agreements concerning your will for every person we know. Teach us how to always pray in agreement with your Word and your will for our leaders. Thank You, Lord, for your care, your direction, and your guidance. In Jesus’ Name, Amen.

QUESTION: What do you mean by soulish prayers? Isn’t all prayer good, just as long as you are praying?

ANSWER: No, all prayer is not good! Satanists pray, witches pray, and New Agers pray. They are not, however, praying pure and right prayers to the Sovereign God who is King of the universe and beyond. Pure, non-soulish prayer can be summed up in one sentence: “Not my will regarding any part of this, God; your will alone be done.”

Soulish prayers are always self-focused. They may be prayed to God, but soulish prayers seek to get what the praying person’s unsurrendered soul wants. Even when the prayers are a mixture of seeking God’s will as well as what the human unsurrendered soul wants, they are 100 percent soulish prayers. Right prayers to God should be pure in their intent: “Not my will regarding any part of this, God; your will alone be done.”

People who pray soulish prayers often put out information that they have spent a lot of time praying for things that have worked out the way that everyone hoped. Rarely do any of them go around saying how much they have prayed for things that didn’t turn out as others hoped they would, do they? We should be less motivated to tell others what we are praying for and be far more interested in praying anonymously. I caution my intercessors to remain confidential about the prayers we are praying, unless someone specifically asks for assurance that we are praying for them or their situation.

Always be ready to pray; just make sure your intent is to seek God’s will for every situation. He alone knows what is best to be done in all situations because He alone knows what all of the circumstances and needs really are and He alone knows how to resolve them.

QUESTION: Last year we had a study of your books at our church. I’m wondering if it is all right to loose poverty and its effects from your family and bind ourselves to the prosperity (financial and otherwise) of God? I continue to bind our minds and wills to God and His truth.

ANSWER: It won’t hurt anything to loose poverty and its effects from your family, but it won’t help anything, either. Financial lack is the result of wrong patterns of thinking about what money represents, wrong attitudes about what money can get for you, and wrong beliefs about the source of all money. Wrong agreements spoken out of a poverty mentality can cause increased financial lack. Negative spiritual influences always show up to take advantage of the access that these wrong agreements create. Evil spirits have the right to inflict loss upon individuals when a family with wrong beliefs habitually speaks wrong agreements.

Lack of money is not the problem here. God can manifest money in any amount, anywhere, anytime He wants. He just knows better than we do when it is a good thing for us to have more money or if more money might cause us to wander off and follow wrong things we could never afford to be involved with before. What if an abundance of money would enable us to pursue our own desires only one degree off from God’s desired path for us? Every step we took would angle us further away from God’s path for our lives.

God withholds money from His people until He knows they can see finances as nothing more than a tool to fulfill and accomplish His will. I read that a wise man once said that everything he owned was either an idol or a tool to use for God. That’s wisdom. Pray:

Lord I bind myself and my family members to your truth about money. I bind my mind and their minds to the mind of Christ. Help us all to recognize your sovereign right to deal with each of your children however you know to be best. Thank You that your children never go about begging for bread when they believe in your goodness toward them. I loose all generational-bondage thinking from my family regarding money. Help us to learn where we have erred in our finances and how we have not yet learned to handle the resources you have given and help us understand how we should. Thank you for your guidance and your love, Amen.

God does not have favorite people that He wants to bless with more money than others; yet God does give money to some and He does withhold money from others. In His wisdom, He knows who can handle a lot of money, accomplishing what He wants accomplished with it. He also knows who will slide away from Him and into trouble if presented with a lot of money. The Bible tells us that the love of money is the root of all evil. The word love, as used here, encompasses wrong desires for what money can provide, not a love for the things of the Kingdom of God. God’s on track with everything to do with your spiritual journey and the journey of your loved ones. Get in the car and let Him drive—you’ll really like where He takes all of you.

Watch Out for the Sinkholes in Your Soulish and Spiritual Warfare

There is a sure way to frustrate Satan’s wiles. Contrary to many peoples’ opinions, it is not to just mount more aggressive warfare upon him than ever before. The sure way can be found in using the Keys of the Kingdom in prayer. Sound too simple? Consider this analogy: If your house keeps filling up with flies, wasps, and gnats because your screens have holes in them, what is the best way to deal with that situation? Is it to fire off huge bug bombs, hang up monster-sized fly strips, chase the pests with an electronic swatter, and bring in long-tongued lizards and frogs to catch and eat them? While this may be effective to a degree, these works would only be temporary measures to stop the pests presently bothering you.

Nothing would have been done to stop more flies and wasps and gnats from coming into your home later in the day, tomorrow, next week, and on through next year! The best way to do that would be to heal or fix the holes in the screens! The same principle applies to evil spirits. Christians who base their only understanding of how to combat Satan’s tactics by using what they have heard from others or been taught from the pulpit, can be manipulated by their own unsurrendered souls and others’ unsurrendered souls, and by the enemy. This can bring great confusion.

Too often the Christian community offers hurting believers only three choices for resolving their confusion about what the enemy can do or might already be doing to mess with their lives. None of these three things will bring permanent healing and restoration to a wounded and needy mind, will, and emotions that are under Satan’s attack:

1. Too many church leaders say you should just accept that Jesus died for your sins and then you should start acting like a good Christian. This is a role that is hard to maintain when your unsurrendered soul is in a full-scream panic mode.
2. Too many deliverance team leaders say you should have evil spirits cast out of you.
3. Too many believe you should get into Christian therapy which can include extensive, expensive digging around in your past. The Bible absolutely does not say that we can be healed, fix our present, and embrace our futures by digging around in our pasts!

Many Christian therapists do stand in the gap for desperate people, helping them hold on until they get a breakthrough with Jesus Christ. Some Christian therapists, however, borrow liberally from the secular psychiatry and psychology industry backed up by huge amounts of self-help books with the same jargon. Freud still has a strong influence on Christian counseling today—controlling the lives of many from his grave with his teachings.

The Church is either trying to use secular methods to get people healed or they are fighting spiritual survival battles with Satan day and night or they are trying to do both. Around us, the world is falling apart as terrorists are invading countries around the world, gangs are thriving, the world economy is in dangerous shape, people are either dying of or being ruined by drugs and alcohol, and children are killing each other at their schools. What is the answer?

The Church’s and the world’s answers are still God’s truth and love and His healed and surrendered people giving His truth and love to others.

Too many Christian leaders and individual believers are confused about this. They keep trying to exert the authority and power of the blood of Christ regardless of the state of their own unsurrendered souls. This has had very little permanent success, ever. Christian leaders today are shouting at the devil, claiming and drawing imaginary blood lines on the floor to show Satan where he can and cannot cross, and trying to bind Satan while loosing angels and the Holy Spirit to go and resolve issues in peoples’ lives and in other countries. But:

1. Satan’s hearing is perfect enough to hear you even if you just whisper.
2. He knows what lines he can cross better than you and I do.
3. We have no spiritual grounds for binding Satan. There is a complete understanding of my rebuttal of this church-taught belief in Chapter 5 of my Unsurrendered Soul II.
4. There is no scriptural proof that we have right to loose angels or the Holy Spirit to go anywhere or do anything in other peoples’ lives.

For all the spiritual authority we are taught to believe that we have, we have rarely been taught how to use it to destroy Satan’s works. We need to change how we deal with the destroyer! We need to begin to take apart his demonic works like Jesus did when He came to Earth in the flesh.

The reason the Son of God was made manifest (visible) was to undo (destroy, loosen, and dissolve)—Author’s note: the exact Greek meanings for the word loose the works the devil [has done] (1 John 3:8 Amplified).

Christ was manifested in the flesh here on Earth—to undo, destroy. Loosen, and dissolve the works of the devil—past and present. John tells us that Jesus said to His disciples and to us:
Believe me when I say that I am in the Father and the Father is in me; or at least believe on the evidence of the miracles themselves. I tell you the truth, anyone who has faith in me will do what I have been doing. He will do even greater things than these, because I am going to the Father. And I will do whatever you ask in my name, so that the Son may bring glory to the Father. You may ask me for anything in my name, and I will do it (John 14:11-14, NIV).

We are to do even greater things than Jesus did—we are to finish the works He left for us when He returned to the Father. He said that in order to do these works, we could ask Him for anything in His Name and He would do it. Here is where so many people get confused. They believe the final words in the verse above to mean that they can ask Jesus for anything their unsurrendered souls want and He will give it to them because that is what the Word says. That is not what it means!

These verses mean that anything you need to complete the work that Jesus left for you to do here on Earth, anything you need to fulfill your destiny purposes in the Kingdom, this is what Jesus promises He will make sure is available to you. This verse has never meant that you can ask for power, fame, riches, new cars, new houses, or specific mates, and He would have to get them for you.

If you want to have it your way, go to Burger King™!

Matthew Henry explains in great fashion what Jesus meant in in John 14:12-14: Ask any thing, any thing that is good and proper for you . . . ask for assistance in your work, for a mouth and wisdom, for preservation out of the hands of your enemies, for power to work miracles when there is occasion, for the success of the ministry in the conversion of souls; ask to be informed, directed, vindicated. Wow, that is good!

You have been involved in soulish spiritual warfare designed by Satan to keep you distracted, occupied, and unaware of your real calling to ruin his plans. It is time to become truly effective in disrupting his works on a much larger scale so he can no longer distract you from your prime job—doing what Jesus left for you to do. Let’s use God’s GPS for Our Soul and do it!

Always remember James 4:17 (NIV):
Anyone, then, who knows the good he ought to do and doesn’t do it, sins.
Who and What is LIBERTY SAVARD MINISTRIES?

This ministry believes the Scriptures are inspired of God, infallible, and fully authoritative for Christian faith and conduct. Jesus Christ, the Son of God, was born of a virgin, lived a sinless life on Earth, died on the cross in a substitutionary work of redemption for mankind, rose again and now sits at the right hand of the Father. Through Christ’s shed blood and renewal of the Holy Ghost, justified by grace through faith, man becomes an heir of God with absolute hope of eternal life.

Liberty teaches Christians how to cause their unsurrendered souls (old natures) to surrender to the will and purposes of God. She also teaches Christians how to loose emotional baggage and toxic waste from their souls to create room within themselves to receive all God has promised to them for today. This allows believers to fulfill their destinies while walking in knowledge and power to bring glory and honor to God the Father! The message of binding and loosing and the unsurrendered soul teaches God’s people how to pray with the Keys of the Kingdom (Matthew 16:19) to impact things on earth so they come into alignment with God’s already established will in heaven. Liberty teaches Christians how to pray purely without “want lists” and soulish instruction manuals for God (so He will know how best to answer their prayers!). Effective prayers always have pure motives, never soulish motives. Binding and loosing Keys of the Kingdom can always expose hidden motives in a believer’s soul.
