WORDS FROM LIBERTY

Look out—here comes 2006! In fact, it has already arrived! I wrote last year of the exhausting health issues I was having. I was finally diagnosed as having hyperthyroidism. My thyroid was pumping out at least three times the normal amount of the thyroid hormone.

After months of seeking the Lord and His healing, last December I underwent radioactive iodine therapy to kill my thyroid. I knew that God could always create a new thyroid for me if I needed one, and the increasing symptoms were exhausting me.

PLUS, and I know all of you can relate to this, my hair had begun to fall out. When all else fails, we have to save the hair!

I have seen about an 80 percent decrease in the symptoms (fatigue, insomnia, confusion, irritability, heart pounding) that I was experiencing. Praise the Lord and pass the radioactive iodine! However, this therapy required me to avoid other people for several days and to stay completely away from my pet cat, Gracie, for nearly six days.

Have you ever tried to explain to a cat (who considers it her right to commandeer your lap at any time) that she can no longer come near you? She and I played “lap and mouse” for nearly six days, a game that tired both of us. When I finally told her that she could get back up in my lap, she immediately leapt up, hunkered down, and hid her head in my t-shirt. It was as if she was thinking, “I don’t know what I did wrong—and I don’t how I made it right again. But I’m going to be very low key until I’m sure she’s back in her right mind and will let me stay up here!”

Thank you so very much for all of you who prayed, who wrote and encouraged me, and those of you who telephoned and e-mailed me. You will never know how sweet it is to have others carry you in prayer when you get so tired you aren’t sure you can pray yourself through. Thank you, thank you, thank you!

2006 Bringing Family Restoration

What would God ask us to do in order that He might heal breakdowns in our family relationships? He would ask us to commit acts of unconditional love and kindness, giving up what our wills want and our souls feel to be fair to us—acts of selfless obedience to Christ’s command to love others as we love ourselves (Galatians 5:14).

According to what I’ve heard from others prophetically regarding this issue in 2006, it won’t matter if the relationship breakdown has been your fault or not—you will be the one called by God to lay down your will and hold high your love to help repair the breakdowns. How do you show love to family members who are wrapped up in indignation, anger, hostility, and unforgiveness? Galatians 5:23-25 (The Message) tells us this about trying to manage our lives and other lives according to our own rules and “laws” of what’s right and what’s fair:

“Legalism is helpless in bringing this about; it only gets in the way . . . the kind of life we have chosen, the life of the Spirit, let us make sure that we do not just hold it as an idea in our heads or a sentiment in our hearts, but work out its implications in every detail of our lives.”

We are the fruit of Christ’s sacrifice for our salvation, and we must fulfill Christ’s command to go forth and bear more fruit. Spiritual fruit consists of what you are, something you do, and something you produce. The fruit you are is revealed through the spiritual fruit you express, which defines your character as a Christian.

What you say about your spiritual walk and what you think about your spiritual walk is not as important as what you express in your walk—the fruit of your Christianity. Galatians 5:6 (The Message) tells us this:

“For in Christ, neither our most conscientious religion nor disregard of religion amounts to anything. What matters is something far more interior: faith expressed in love.”

Regarding this verse, Matthew Henry says this: “Faith, where it is true, is a working grace: it works by love, love to God and love to our brethren; and faith, thus working by love, is all in all in our Christianity.” Faith is a working grace which must be acted out to bless others with its fruit. Peter exhorted believers to add the qualities of Christian character to their faith lest they be unfruitful in 2 Peter 1:5-8 (NKJV).

“Giving all diligence, add to your faith virtue, to virtue knowledge, to knowledge self-control, to self-control perseverance, to perseverance godliness, to godliness brotherly kindness, and to brotherly kindness love. For if these things are yours and abound, you will be neither barren nor unfruitful.”

In Galatians 5:22-23, we read the list of the fruit of the Spirit. Paul wrote this list to highlight the fruit that Christ’s church should bear and offer to the world:

Love—Joy—Peace
Patience—Kindness—Goodness
Faithfulness—Gentleness—Self-control

Paul then says, “Against such there is no law.” No one in society, our courts of justice, or in government could find anything subversive, illegal, or objectionable in this list of spiritual fruit. Even an atheist would be hard put to condemn these qualities if they were the fruit of a Christian life. It is easy, however, for others to condemn the Christian that is without any of the fruit on this list. The first spiritual fruit mentioned is love. Love is spiritually “legal” (according to Paul), an easy fruit to document in 1 Corinthians 13:4-7 (The Message):

“Love never gives up. Love cares more for others than for self. Love doesn’t want what it doesn’t have. Love doesn’t strut, Doesn’t have a swelled head, Doesn’t force itself on others, Isn’t always ‘me first,’ Doesn’t fly off the handle, Doesn’t keep score of the sins of others, Doesn’t revel when others grovel, Takes pleasure in the flowering of truth, Puts up with anything, Trusts God always, Always looks for the best, Never looks back, But keeps going to the end.”

Humans usually find it easiest to implement abstract spiritual principles (such as love) in their lives by actually practicing the principle. Begin looking for situations where you can practice the principles of love. Keep an accountability journal of what you find to do and what you actually do with love’s attributes listed below:

Love never gives up:

- Love sticks through thick and thin with a friend
- Love cares enough to help a family member in need
- Love doesn’t stop reaching out to strangers in need even if such an action backfired before

Love cares more for others than for self:

- Love will sit up all night in a hospital waiting room with a frightened family member or friend
- Love gives surly teenagers a second and third chance
- Love will give away a favorite coat to a shivering stranger who has none

Love doesn’t want what it doesn’t have:

- Love doesn’t covet other peoples’ blessings
- Love isn’t greedy and selfish
- Love appreciates what it receives and shares

Love doesn’t strut, doesn’t have a swelled head:

- Love is never proud
- Love is never arrogant
- Love is never snobbish

Love doesn’t force itself on others:

- Love will wait patiently to offer help
- Love never takes a rejection of an offer of friendship or help personally
- Love is a good listener

Love isn’t always “me first”:

- Love thinks of the other person’s needs before it worries about its own
- Love always tries to give space, with a smile, to those who push in front of it
- Love tries to help others get ahead without undue concern for its own position

Love doesn’t fly off the handle:

- Love works hard to be patient with everyone
- Love overlooks other’s faults and differences
- Love counts to at least one hundred when someone is being difficult (Liberty’s note: I was reminded of writing this and had to put this one into practice yesterday...teacher, teach thyself!)

Love doesn’t keep score of the sins of others:

- Love doesn’t make lists or keep books on other people’s actions

- Love strives to overlook or ignore other’s faults and continues praying for them
- Love doesn’t refuse to forgive because someone has done the same thing thirty times before

Love never revels when others grovel:

- Love never enjoys seeing someone being embarrassed when they fail
- Love never wants others to be uncomfortable
- Love is never pleased when someone seems to get “paid back” for mistakes or wrong actions

Love takes pleasure in the flowering of the truth:

- Love is pleased when someone is acquitted of an accusation
- Love forgives the one who confesses a falsehood
- Love rejoices with all who stand up for what is right

Love puts up with anything:

- Love keeps being kind to someone who is mean and spiteful
- Love always acts with grace and mercy
- Love doesn’t react to another’s bad attitude, instead does a quick check on its own attitudes

Love trusts God always:

- Love prays for God’s will to be done in others’ lives with great blessing
- Love knows that God’s Word can always be trusted when praying for self and for others
- Love has trust and confidence in the goodness, wisdom, and power of God

Love always looks for the best:

- Love always looks for the good in people that God sees in them
- Love always believes for the potential that God is working out in others
- Love always knows that God is working in every situation in every life

Love never looks back, but keeps going to the end:

- Love doesn’t bring up another’s past actions against them, but encourages better behavior in the future
- Love encourages as spiritual growth is worked out
- Love walks, hand in hand, through hard times with others

Outstanding Sermon on Stewardship

Who doesn’t cringe when we hear our pastors say, “Today’s sermon will be on stewardship”? Pastor Sammy Vasquez of Trinity Life Center in Sacramento preached a new way to look at this subject last Sunday, a message I recommend to all. His major points were:

1. Stewardship means to be a good manager of someone else’s assets, affairs, or property (Webster’s Dictionary).
2. God made the heavens, the earth, and everything in them. He both made and owns everything, and He said it was good (Genesis 1).
3. God made man and woman to be good managers of all His creation. God said to fill it, subdue it, rule it, work it, and take care of it
4. God created us to manage His assets, earthly affairs, and property. Our happiness on earth will be in proportion to our stewardship of His good things.
5. Each one of us will give an account to God one day of what we did with what He has blessed us with.
6. Tithing is a reminder to us to show our gratitude for what He has shared with us so we will not forget where it all has come from.
7. Take good care of what He has given you.

You can order a tape of this sermon by calling Trinity Life Center at 916-348-4673. Tell them Liberty told you!

THIS IS THE LAST NEWSLETTER YOU WILL RECEIVE (unless you...)

We have been tightening our belts at Liberty Savard Ministries in order to maintain our ministry for the coming year. We have already downsized our office suite to half the size it used to be. It’s amazing how you can condense and tighten space when you need to, isn’t it? Linda and I are in the office with part-time volunteers JoAnne and Evelyn. We would be blessed with welcoming other volunteers into the ministry as well. Just call our office (916-721-7770) and let us know.

We will no longer be mailing out free newsletters by snail mail. We are switching to monthly online mailings containing highlights, pictures, and links to the full newsletter on our website. There will be no charge for monthly e-mail newsletters. Some of you will be receiving a first-time e-mail newsletter as well as this hard copy. If you do not want any newsletter e-mails, send a return e-mail stating in the subject line: PLEASE REMOVE ME

If you wish to continue hearing about LSM and the ministry message and new revelation through snail mail, we can only continue to mail them to you each month for $15 per year to cover printing, stamps, and clerical support. THIS IS THE LAST LSM NEWSLETTER being mailed to your home unless we hear from you.

LSM Partners, LSM Teachers, LSM Directors

You are always there for us with prayer, financial support, wisdom, enthusiasm about the message, and words of encouragement. It would be so much harder do what we do if we didn't have you behind us!

LSM Website: Apples of Gold Devotional e-Book Chapter Downloads Coming Soon!

Our website (found at www.libertysavard.com) has had a "face lift" with new articles, new order pages, and new Q&A and testimonies. You will soon be able to download individual Apples of Gold in Baskets of Silver devotional chapters (ten devotionals each) with work pages. These downloads will provide material and teaching for home groups, Sunday school classes, and personal use. Each chapter set just $4.00 each through PayPal.

Soon, all of the LSS Mini Books will also be available as e-Book downloads on the LSM website. Payment can be made through PayPal for immediate downloads.

Teachers' Training Tapes and Manuals Available

With regret we announced last summer that there would be no further online or correspondence teachers' training due to health issues that Liberty had. However, the first two modules from these studies (originally $55 each)—The Keys of the Kingdom I and II—are available. These modules include teaching CDs/audio cassette tapes, manuals, application graphics, action point exercises, prayer assignments, journal instructions, and module test with answers so you can self-test. There is no more journal monitoring, student mentoring, or LSM office test correcting (hence the price reduction). Each module ships for $5.00 each (in the US) and $4.95 handling per order.

LSM Teachers' Training – June 20-24, 2006 – Now 5 Full Days of Advanced Schooling

For just $200 (early bird registration fee), experience five days of in-depth training, classroom instruction, and testing for deeper understanding or to qualify for LSM Teachers' Certification. Call 916-721-7770 to register or to ask further questions (also at www.libertysavard.com).

Teen Writing and Cartooning Contest Cancelled for Lack of Entries – New Childrens Books Coming Up

It is with disappointment that LSM and Bridge Logos Publishing had to cancel the above referenced contest because of lack of entries. The contest offered possible publishing contracts with Bridge Logos Publishing. Two new childrens' books by Liberty are still in the works at this time, complete with wonderful illustrations being completed by a very talented young graphic artist in Cherry Hill NJ.

New Revision of Existing LSS Books in the Works

A new revision of Shattering Your Strongholds was released last July. The next revision up will be the Shattering Your Strongholds Workbook together with Breaking the Power and its matching workbook. Following those projects, a revision of Producing the Promise and a matching workbook will be released. That release date has not yet been set. (Hidden code: SHROX)

A Wooden Bowl (author unknown)

A frail old man went to live with his son, daughter-in-law, and four-year old grandson. The old man's hands trembled, his eyesight was blurred, and his step faltered.

The family ate together at the table, but the elderly grandfather's shaky hands and failing sight made eating difficult. Peas rolled off his spoon onto the floor, and his milk spilled on the tablecloth. The son and daughter-in-law became irritated and decided that they couldn't enjoy their meals anymore with the situation the way it was. So they set a small table off to the side where the grandfather ate alone while the rest of the family ate dinner at the dining room table. Since he had broken a dish or two, his food was now served in a wooden bowl.

When the family glanced in the old man's direction, sometimes he had a tear in his eye as he sat alone struggling with his meal. Still, the only words the couple had for him were admonitions when he dropped a fork or spilled food. The four-year-old watched it all in silence.

One evening before supper, the father and mother noticed their young son playing with wood scraps on the floor. The father asked the child what he was making. The boy responded, "I'm making little bowls for you and Mama to eat your food in when I grow up." That evening the husband took Grandfather's hand and led him back to the family table. For the remainder of his days he ate every meal with the family, where no one cared at all when a fork was dropped, milk was spilled, or the tablecloth soiled. What are you teaching your child about his elders?

New Testimonies

My wife Mary's long-term neurological disorder, described by one of the best specialists in this nation as "hopeless" over 5 years ago (we just refuse to believe that conclusion), makes the over-confident declaration of healing that so many make stick somewhere between my stomach and my throat. You would not believe the formulas and rationalizations that have been put forward as to the why of Mary not being miraculously healed (or perhaps you would). I am so very tired of the trite things so many Christians say with no understanding of the sick person's spiritual walk. Just last Sunday someone said, "Just get the Word into her, Carl, that's all she needs!" I felt like someone had kicked me in the head!

I have no doubts about the amazing New Covenant potential invested and residing in our spirits and the unlimited power of our ascended and glorified Jesus, and neither does Mary. I see her negotiate so often with the Lord she loves, and ache with her as she finally says, "Nevertheless, not my will but Yours, Lord!" I am so glad to know (contrary to the shallow, untried, unlivd opinions of so many) that it is not Mary's faith or her lack of faith that prevents the manifestation of complete healing. It is the mystery of Father's good and acceptable and perfect will. Mary lives in Romans 12:1-2 every day. So here is my midnight prayer for what it is worth!

"Father, here I sit again in your presence, writing to Liberty, my precious new friend and (older) wiser sister in Jesus. If I were in Your place, I would heal Mary in a heartbeat, but that just shows what an infant I still am in understanding Your ways, doesn't it? It seems as if I have bound and loosed and agreed with the written Word and in prayer with pastors and friends over this particular issue until I am blue in the face!

Father, my "wits end" corner is where I seem to sit all day, every day. My moody emotions and grumps mean I also deserve to be sitting on the "naughty stool" as well, because my attitude about all this slips badly sometimes. So Father, it is my turn now to bind myself afresh to your will on this matter and to say (and really mean it), "Not my will, but Yours." So I loose from my tired mind and my confused emotions every wrong attitude, my resentment, and all my accumulated pain and disappointments about this.

Please just show me how I should minister to Mary, Father. Grant me fresh anointing and wisdom and grace to deal with the medical specialists trying to help her (and me). In Jesus Precious Name, Amen

Mary and I are amazed at the "resonance" of spirit your teaching produces in us. The Lord showed me that the Lord's prayer is the ultimate binding and loosing prayer, and so we shared it together in what was like reading and saying the prayer for the first time. Then I picked up your mini book Freedom Here and Now and opened to the epilogue! You can imagine how our hearts leaped when we turned to the last page! I recently shared your material with a pastor friend and his wife we have known for over 30 years, and they were so moved and felt so envious that you had actually walked in these truths for over 20 years.

I have thought a lot about how our souls have robbed us of revelation truth. Thanks for this. C.M. Australia

I am fortunate to be among the millions of people who read your books. Recently I was referred to Shattering Your Strongholds. I can tell you what you speak about is something very powerful. I have had a rough year in 2005. This has made me realize that living in this world is not about me and what I want, but it is about what the will of God is about my life. This year I am concentrating on binding my will to the will of the Lord. All that I can say is thank you. I intend to read this book over and over again so I don't miss out on important truths that we need to discover. I intend to read Breaking the Power after this. Kind regards, Phindile M. Africa

A friend was reading The Unsundered Soul. It talks about not being able to sleep, so she brought it to work. My friend wouldn't let me borrow it, so I went on your website to look more into what you wrote about binding and loosing. In the article "Why won't God send me a mate?" I read the Breaking Soul Power prayer. I knew there was something there and I prayed it right then. I prayed it again before I went to bed, and I actually slept that night for the first time without sleeping meds. That was in August. I have slept just about every night since. I purchased your trilogy, The Unsundered Soul, the workbooks, and your videos on Breaking the Power. The binding and loosing prayers are setting me free. They have given me answers to the whys. In 2 1/2 months of binding myself to the will of God and to the mind of Christ while loosing the all the selfs- (protection, reliance, denial, control, etc.), God finally has room in my soul to do some real work. I am more free than I have ever been, and I am finding life in my relationship with God again. I am so thankful you were obedient to God and the message He has given you. In Christ's Love, Bonita

Just a note to thank you for your obedience! Your newest book, BEYOND Shattered Strongholds, is just what we needed here at Rock Solid Ministries. What a powerful beginning to our new series here at Rock Solid! Thank you so much. I just can not find the words to express my feelings toward you and your wonderful ministry!!
Your fellow servant, Bill

I am a minister. My wife passed away from cancer a few years ago. I began having trouble with former thoughts that I thought I had the victory over. Today I felt to go to the book store and saw your book Shattering Your Strongholds in the front entrance of the store. I haven't even finished the book, and I have already had victory in an area of great concern. The authority that Christ gave me over the devil took hold immediately. Thank you, Liberty, for taking the time to write. Your labor was not in vain. I can't afford to have strongholds while caring for sheep and trying to work out my own salvation. T.H.W.

Questions and Answers

Q: Liberty, I have prayed the binding/loosing prayers for over a year. My husband says he doesn't love me anymore and wants to be free of me. I know he's moving on with his life and I need to do the same, but "moving on" implies that something else is left behind. I feel like I'm losing my mind. I have started drinking to dull the pain. I still pray every day...especially about soul ties...but they just seem like words now. Please help me! Danette

A: Danette, this is a hard situation, but God knows what He wants to bring out of it. You MUST realize that God knows exactly what He wants to do here. You have to accept that whatever that is, it absolutely will be the best possible outcome for you and your children and your husband. As you pray the binding and loosing prayers, stop praying them with belief that they will make everything turn out how you see it as best. What we see "as best" is often clouded by our souls' needs and pain. God absolutely and truly sees what is best for each one of you, and He will bring it to pass if you trust Him and His plans. That might mean giving up what you want, or it might mean that God is doing what you want. Be careful that you don't get into attempting spiritual blackmail by "standing" on what you believe God has to do and insisting that He do it because you have faith that He will.

Loose your wrong patterns of addictive thinking which have drug you down into discouragement and depression as well as the beginnings of alcohol dependency to dull your pain. Praying the breaking soul ties prayer will work if you truly want the soul ties broken. Often we really don't want to give them up entirely because we feel that is all we have left of the other person. Your hope cannot lie in whether or not your husband comes back a changed man—your hope is that God will make something very, very good out of whatever you surrender completely to Him. I prayed for you today. Liberty

Q: Dear Liberty, I don't know where to start as my life is such a mess—so much pain and destruction, rejection and bondage. I grew up in a very destructive, broken and abusive home. I am just so confused and in so much bondage. Is there any way out of this pain? I am in New Zealand. Andy

A: Andy: We have mailed you a copy of Breaking the Power in case you can't find it in New Zealand. In the meantime, I've attached two prayers for you to start praying—the Breaking Soul Power prayer and the Breaking Soul Ties prayer. We prayed for you in our staff prayer meeting and are believing that you are going to begin to see how your soul has been deceiving you about whether or not you can hope in God. You can! He is faithful. Sometimes we just can't see what He is doing because our souls don't want us to see it. That is because if our souls (mind, will, emotions) have to surrender to what God says about how much He loves us and that He has a plan for us, then they have to surrender all of their deceptions, their self-destructive thinking patterns, their self-protection mechanisms, and their self-defense devices. That is very scary to a soul that has been trying to run things and protect itself against all of the pain it has picked up over a lifetime. Your soul has NO idea how to let God heal its pain, so it only knows how to try to bury it. That is like burying toxic waste in your basement. Don't try to build more levels of protection, rather get ready to begin letting God remove the toxic waste. I think Breaking the Power will help you see how to do that.

We care, Andy, and we will continue to pray for you! God loves you, you have a right to have hope, and your soul is going to surrender if you will begin to bring it into submission with these prayers. Pray the page 30 prayer, Breaking Soul Power, each day for at least 30 days. Pray the Breaking Soul Ties prayers for about 5 days and see if you notice a difference in your thinking. Liberty

Q: I believe that I may have been involved in a relationship with a Christian woman who has some of the characteristics of a borderline personality disorder. Although the relationship appears to have ended, do you believe that God could bring two people together to bring healing to the person with the disorder? Thanks, Donald

A: We have heard from people who have prayed the Keys of the Kingdom prayers (along with the understanding found in reading the books) who say they have been healed of mental and personality disorders. The unsundered soul is usually the main source of any disordered thinking. You can pray for this woman, specifically with the prayer I've attached (from the revised version of Shattering Your Strongholds). Regarding your last question, God can do anything, but you need to be praying and binding your will to God's will, your mind to the mind of Christ, and your emotions to the healing balance of the Holy Spirit to make sure that you are not pursuing wrong input from your own unsundered soul. Liberty

Dear Liberty, I just stumbled across some of your books recently and I am working towards understanding these principles with hopes to teach this to others so they can be free. My question is concerning my daughter. She is an heroin addict who recently received Christ as her Savior. and I now realize that it's her spirit not her soul that is saved now. She is living with an abusive man. In scoring drugs, she has been badly abused before. I know that the Lord can set her free and heal her. I hope you can give me further insight as I stand in the gap for her. Elsa Q.

A: Elsa, It is a God thing that you have learned how to pray with the Keys of the Kingdom. Be sure that you keep studying the Word of God and that you remember that these Keys of the Kingdom are given to us so we might be in agreement that God's will. His will is what always needs to be sought and agreed with. Keep binding yourself and your daughter to God's will, to the mind of Christ, and to the healing balance of the Holy Spirit. Loose (loose means to destroy: 1 John 3:8) the works of the enemy from yourself and from your daughter. Also, loose the effects and influences of all wrong agreements off every member of your family. Stay in the Word and stay balanced in your prayer life.

When you are binding your loved ones to God's will and purposes, you are agreeing that He has a plan for them and He wants to see it come to pass. Prayers of fear, doubt, hopelessness, and pain on your part will never be prayers of agreement with God's will for her life. Trust in the power of Jesus' promise that what we bind on earth will be bound in heaven, and what we loose on earth will be loosed in heaven. Trust, even if you don't see it working itself out in the natural yet. I prayed for you and your daughter today. Liberty

Q: I have been in a situation for a very long time now that I do not know how to handle. Another person keeps putting me down and criticizing me. Whenever I want to speak about those put downs and criticisms after praying over it, and even when I pray silently during the confrontation, the other person gets really upset and starts screaming and insulting me. Afterwards the other person punishes me by being very accusative and menacing. To escape these reactions, I have given up credit for much of what I have achieved. By being passive I have tried to avoid being humiliated. I have been praying the binding and loosing prayers, but I am really desperate and TIRED of this all. What should I do? Marilyn

A: Marilyn: If this is a close relative, you must make some attempts to work out the problem. If it is not, then you need to consider ways to remove yourself from contact with the person—at least for the present. Is there someone else who can get involved—a pastor, a family member, a boss—to arbitrate the situation? If not, then avoid getting into discussions with this person while continuing to pray the binding and loosing prayers for him without any personal motives on your part. Pray with the motive that he will become healed and learn to have a relationship with Jesus. Use this situation as an opportunity to learn how to pray and turn the other cheek

(as it says in the Bible). I prayed for you and this person today after reading your e-mail. Liberty

Q: Do you believe that a person can have a co-dependent spirit with someone else? I have been told that I do, but I don't really know how to get rid of it. I have read your book Shattering Your Strongholds, and I am now reading The Unsundered Soul. Please take a minute to help me. I know you're busy, but your books have helped me grow tremendously in the last few months. Patty

A: Patty: There is no such thing as a co-dependent spirit. I suggest you carefully read The Unsundered Soul and pray the prayers in it to understand what is really happening. Your unsundered soul may be trying to get its needs met through forming alliances with others, even to the point of soul ties. I've also written a mini book called Soul Power, Soul Ties, and Soulish Prayers that might help you further understand what your soul will try to do to meet its own needs. I have written these books so that you can use the principles in your own prayers. God will honor your attempts to bring your soul into submission. He will move on your behalf. Liberty

Binding and Loosing Tips So You Don't Pray Amiss

1. Pray the binding and loosing prayers to cause your soul to surrender to God's will for your life.
2. Binding and loosing prayers are not new ways to get God to give you what you want—they are ways to help you pray in accordance with what He wants.
3. Binding and loosing prayers are not new ways to get God to do what you want done in the lives of those you are praying for.
4. Binding and loosing prayers are ways for you to pray that your loved ones will come into agreement with God's will for their lives.

Who and What is LIBERTY SAVARD MINISTRIES?

Reverend Liberty S. Savard, President of Liberty Savard Ministries, Inc. (a non-profit corporation), was born again in 1972. She is an ordained minister with credentials from the Evangelical Church Alliance (P.O. Box 9, Bradley, Illinois 60915). Rev. Savard has served as a singles director, associate pastor, speaker, and Bible teacher. She is the author of Shattering Your Strongholds (1993 Bridge Logos Pub.), Breaking the Power (1997 Bridge Logos Pub.), Producing the Promise (1999 Bridge Logos Pub.), and several mini-books and workbooks. With The Unsundered Soul (2002 Bridge Logos Pub.), Apples of Gold In Baskets Of Silver (2003 Bridge Logos Pub.), and BEYOND Shattered Strongholds (2005 Bridge Logos Pub.), she now has 14 books in print around the world.

This ministry believes the Scriptures are inspired of God, infallible, and fully authoritative for Christian faith and conduct. Jesus Christ, the Son of God, was born of a virgin, lived a sinless life on Earth, died on the cross in a substitutionary work of redemption for mankind, rose again and now sits at the right hand of the Father. Through Christ's shed blood and renewal of the Holy Ghost, justified by grace through faith, man becomes an heir of God with absolute hope of eternal life.

This ministry teaches Christians how to cause their unsundered souls (old natures) to surrender to the will and purposes of God. LSM also teaches Christians how to loose emotional baggage from their souls to create room within themselves to receive all God has promised to them. This allows them to fulfill their destinies while walking in knowledge and power to bring glory and honor to God the Father! This ministry also teaches God's people how to pray with the Keys of the Kingdom (Matthew 16:19) to impact things on earth so that they come into alignment with God's already established will in heaven. This ministry is also dedicated to training Christians how to pray purely without "want lists" and instruction manuals for God (so He will know how best to answer the prayers!). Effective prayers with pure motives declare that God's will shall be done on Earth as He has so set it in heaven.
