A Word from Liberty

Where did November and December go? I am amazed that we are suddenly in 2007! I didn't even get my Nov/Dec e-newsletter sent out in 2006. If 2007 sneaks in this fast, it might well be a sudden and fast moving year.

I have been avidly reading the Book of Revelation in several different versions of the Bible for weeks now. I have a feeling that there is a new revelation that God wants to release to the body of Christ from this exciting and "mysterious" book.

Then someone sent me the following word spoken by Prophet Kim Clement in Albany, OR in August, 2006:

The Spirit of the Lord says, "Do not say it will come in this fashion or it will come in that fashion. Will it come from the wind? Will it come from the clouds? Where shall this come from? I have something hidden! I have something hidden—a scroll that must be opened for this generation, at this time. Not for the world to see, but I have kept aside only for those who hold the keys of the Kingdom at this time.

"Now," says the Spirit, "only those who perceive will receive what has been released. A scroll and a truth that has been opened up shall cause many to come in and to stand with abundance, and stand with blessing.

"And a very strange thing shall happen. I will give unto you what your forefathers did not take, did not receive." For God says, "When a promise is given, it remains until someone receives it."

This is one of the most exciting words I've heard in a long time. Pray together with us about what God is saying to His people.

There are, however, deeply serious words of prophecy also being given throughout the prophetic realm. I believe the following words give us the answer for impacting several catastrophic things that have been prophesied to occur in America in 2007. Praying believers can powerfully affect such occurrences!

Steve Shultz, the founder/publisher of The Prophetic Voice magazine, has written (in part):

I have a simple rule that is first found in the Old Testament (so it's really God's rule, not mine, of course). No matter how godly and accurate the prophet of God is—God has said, "If My people, which are called by My name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek My face, and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from Heaven, and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land" (2 Chronicles 7:14).

This means we have nothing to lose and everything to gain by (praying earnestly) and asking HIM not to allow the very thing HE has shown us. Abraham did this. So did Moses. So should we. The God of "Great Grace" does, in fact, often relent from sending or allowing calamity if we are a repentant people. So let's be repentant.

Read (the following) word by Pat Robertson with a complete sense of soberness. Pat is, after all, a godly man who has spent years hearing God speak. Then (pray earnestly), seek repentance in your own life, and in the life of your particular nation. Ask God to relent from sending calamity. The worst that could happen is that God could say, "No," and if that were the case, He would still have a purpose of great mercy and outreach, as seen in past catastrophes.

Below are excerpts that Steven Shultz is referring to, spoken by Pat Robertson (January 2nd, 2007) on the 700 Club program. You can read them in their entirety on http://www.elijahlist.com/words/display_word/4878:

God's Word to His people worldwide, not just here in America, is that this year is going to be a year of extraordinary miracles . . . there are such extraordinary things that are going to take place: victory over demonic powers, victory of healing; some dramatic miracles taking place in people's lives.

(However) evil men; evil people, are going to try to do evil things to us and to others during the . . . second half of 2007. There will be some very serious terrorist attacks. The evil people will come after this country . . . chaos is going to rule, and the Lord (has) said that the politicians will not have any solutions for it. I hope people will pray and that this won't happen. But nevertheless, that seems to be what's coming up.

The last word that I got was on New Year's Day from the tenth chapter of Ezra, when the Jewish people had come back from captivity. The Lord had given them a little respite, and, lo and behold, they immediately began to break His Word and to intermarry with the heathen people. Ezra was overwhelmed and he called for a national repentance. He said, "You've got to put away from you this evil."

I thought, "How does this apply to us?" And the truth is that the Christians particularly have intermarried with evil. We have television that is just full of evil. We have motion pictures full of evil . . . violence, sexuality and permissiveness. On the Internet, we have all kinds of evil that people are allowing themselves to get into. And then, more than that, there's this air of materialism where we're caught up in it. It was as if God is saying, "You've got to put away from yourself those heathen influences that are taking over. Because I'm going to do something wonderful for you, but it's not going to happen unless you put away the heathen influences."

A lot of these things can be reversed by God's people if we will call on His Name, pray, turn away from our wicked ways, seek righteousness, and seek humility. God's Word tells us in 2 Chronicles 7:14 how we should take action for our nation and other nations.

In addressing how we act towards individuals this year, read what Paul wrote to the Philippian Christians, "1 If you have any encouragement from being united with Christ, if any comfort from his love, if any fellowship with the Spirit, if any tenderness and compassion, 2 then make my joy complete by being like-minded, having the same love, being one in spirit and purpose. 3 Do nothing out of selfish ambition or vain conceit, but in humility consider others better than yourselves. 4 Each of you should look not only to your own interests, but also to the interests of others. 5 Your attitude should be the same as that of Christ Jesus" (Philippians 1:1-5, NIV).

In Philippians 2:5, we are urged to "let this mind be in you which was also in Christ Jesus." How many of us can say that we are always allowing His mind to saturate our thoughts and our words? At the beginning of a new year, 2007, it is a perfect time to reconsider these verses.

J. I. Packer says in his book Knowing God: "(Having His mind) ought to mean the reproducing in human lives of the (temperament) of Him who for our sakes became poor . . . the spirit of those who, like their Master, live their whole lives on the principle of making themselves poor—spending and being spent—to enrich their fellowmen, giving time, thought, care, and concern to do good to others . . . in whatever way there seems need."

In Producing the Promise, I shared the following research I had done on Matthew 5:3:

Jesus gave us a prescription for blessing in the Beatitude of Matthew 5:3, "Blessed are the poor in spirit: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven" (KJV). The word spirit as used in the N.T. does not always mean what you might think. It often means the human soul—the mind, will, and emotions. In Matthew 5:3, the word spirit does mean soul according to Thayer's Greek/English Lexicon.

The word poor as used here comes from the Greek word ptochos (Strong's/Thayers' #4434) which means a consciousness of spiritual need. I read that the use of ptochos in this verse means a chosen poverty of all personal desires, agendas, preconceived ideas, and mind-sets in order to create room within ourselves to receive from God. Those who voluntarily choose to empty themselves of personal agendas become very conscious of their spiritual need for Christ. And they will be blessed—the Kingdom of heaven shall be theirs.

This is the kind of thinking that comes when you think like Christ does. This is the kind of thinking that comes when you have the same attitudes and interests as Christ does. This thinking does not automatically just show up when you pray and bind your mind to the mind of Christ, but that begins the process of changed thoughts. The change in your thinking comes as you start acting on the new thoughts you begin to have from having your mind bound to His mind, from having His mind in you.

I recently watched Oprah's "Pay It Forward" show. She gave $1,000.00 and a Sony video camera to each member of the audience and sent them out to find people to bless (filming everything that happened). The stories and videos they brought back were truly heartwarming. In some of the towns where the people went to "Pay It Forward," some truly awesome things happened.

Some came back to report that their efforts to bless others turned into community outreaches where the entire town began to give time and money to making life better for others. One community gave a total of $200,000!

The concept is scriptural. Those who have should share their blessings with others. Born-again believers have been given gifts from God that are too numerous to list here—unconditional love, forgiveness, a full pardon for a life of sin, blessings, mercy, grace, peace, joy, a Comforter, One who has all the answers, and so much more. There is no way we can "Pay It Back" to Him, but He has only asked that we do good to others, that we "Pay It Forward."

When you share with others, they see the love of Christ in you. Love is really more of an expression of action and attitude than just being an emotion.

This giving and sharing, this "Paying It Forward," is at its purest when there is absolutely no expectation of receiving anything back. The body of Christ has often been encouraged to expect returned blessings, returned finances, and returned favor for everything they give or do. How wonderful is the gift that is given anonymously without any expectation of a return from God or others. This truly is a gift given out of love.

I remember once finding two twenty-dollar bills tucked into my Bible during a rough financial time. I still have no idea who put them there or even how long they had been there. But I was blessed and I thanked the Lord so much, asking Him over and over to bless that person, whoever he or she was. I really think God himself initiated the "Pay It Forward" concept

In early December, I learned that my pastor's family made up several bagged lunches after their Thanksgiving meal and set out in their car to find people who looked hungry. Then they came home and prayed for everyone they had given a lunch to. What a great idea! I heard of someone who walked around a parking lot with cookies and small paper cups of hot cocoa. I often try to take someone out to lunch after church who doesn't get to eat out very often—a small thing to bless another person.

So, what can you do or share to "Pay It Forward" to someone else? Here's a possible list for 2007:

- Take someone to lunch after church who usually doesn't get to go out to lunch.
- Offer to pick up someone and take them back home after church for a month or two months.
- Buy some stationery and stamps, visit a hospital or care home, and offer to write what patients want in the cards and then mail them to their family or friends.
- Take brownies, cookies, or pies to your neighbors and tell them they are from Jesus.
- Offer your home for a prayer meeting or a home Bible study.
- Volunteer to keep the children of an overstressed mother so she can have an afternoon to herself.
- Volunteer to help a man working in his yard.
- When walking through a mall, offer to get a cup of coffee or a bottle of water for tired shoppers.
- Give a group of teenage strangers some fast food gift certificates and tell them they are from Jesus.
- Pray for at least three strangers every day.
- Pray for cranky waitresses or sales clerks having a bad day and who seem disrespectful, giving them grace.
- Send someone a gift certificate for whatever you think they would like most and sign it as from Jesus.
- Phone an elderly or shut-in person each week, or at least every other week.
- Sit down with a lonely person over coffee or cocoa and practice really listening.
- Volunteer to help out in a worthy cause or an event that will help others who don't always have the resources that you do.

"Pay It Forward" to those who might not get many breaks or favors done for them without expectations of having to "Pay It Back"! In other words, don't just wear your What Would Jesus Do bracelet. Do what He would do instead. Jesus would do something kind, loving, and thoughtful. Go and do likewise.

Dr. Robert Schuller said this on November 24, 2006): "I tell you the truth, if you have faith as small as a mustard seed, you can say to this mountain, 'Move from here to there' and it will move. Nothing will be impossible for you" (Matthew 17:20 (NIV)). One of the elements that makes faith powerful is its requirement to believe in the might of the miniature.

A tiny seed—but what a mighty plant can emerge!

A small thought passing through the mind can be easily overlooked. (But) there are latent possibilities in the small thought, the little act, and the commonplace functions of life. I telephoned two friends today. One was hospitalized. I encouraged him and prayed a positive prayer for him. When I finished, his voice was broken with emotion as he thanked me. It was a small thought. It took only a minute.

The other call was to an attorney friend who is experiencing business difficulties. I assured him that whatever happens I recognized him as a person of unquestionable integrity. By reassuring him of my respect, I gave him a lift! Again, it was such a little thing to do. A telephone call, a positive reinforcement—these encouraging words to a troubled person can make the difference between life and death!

A simple act of thoughtfulness may appear to be such a little thing. But it can turn the mood from depression to hope, and in so doing move a mighty mountain! Today, move a mountain with a little thought. Pick up a telephone, write a letter, or make a hospital call; simply be positive and optimistic. Build the spirits of someone who needs a lift! Thank You, God, that I have been given the gift of encouraging people around me! I'll make every day beautiful by some small act of love and kindness. Amen.

It is totally against the nature of a cat to swim or fetch a stick, but this cat is even though it probably does not make sense any to him. Whenever God says to do something, whether it makes sense or not—JUST DO IT!

Liberty Savard's Beginners' Writing School in Sacramento CA - September 19-22, 2007

We are delighted to announce the addition of two wonderful teachers for our Liberty Savard Beginners'

Writing School in Sacramento, September 19-22, 2007. This school is perfect for the new writer and first-time author, and it particularly geared towards understanding why you may be called to write for God's people. I (Liberty) will be teaching on why you should want to write for the Kingdom. You can, of course, read about me on my website: www.libertysavard.com.

Our first speaker, Nancy Rue, came highly recommended. She will be teaching about our need to be the authentic selves God created us to be. She has written and published over eighty books for children, teens, and adults, and has received numerous honors and awards for her writing.

Nancy says that she quickly found out that the life of the beginning writer is not a glamorous one, saying: "For about fourteen years, I was a writer and a teacher. I taught English and theatre in high schools during the school year and theatre workshops during the summer, and most days I would get up at 4:00 a.m. to write before I went off to work." She speaks and teaches extensively, and we feel honored to have her with us. Read more about Nancy Rue on her website at www.nancyrue.com.

Our other excellent speaker is Lisa Crayton. Lisa is an internationally published author, award-winning freelance publisher, editor, and non-fiction writer. She also serves as a writing mentor. She has a background in publications management, marketing communications, publicity, TV and radio interviewing, and some ghostwriting.

Lisa says, "On the e-publishing front, I'm the publisher/editor of SPIRIT-LED WRITER. I'm thrilled to announce that an article in Spiritual Writing (December 2005), a special Writer's Digest publication, mentioned Spirit-Led Writer as a website worth visiting. Moreover, Writer's Digest magazine named Spirit-Led Writer a "Best Web Site for Writers" for 2004." Read more about Lisa on her website: www.lisacrayton.com.

We are still working on our budget (good speakers, recording equipment, a great venue, and many amenities are costly!) for this exciting school. The final costs will come out in the next newsletter. Students should arrange for their own rooms at the Red Lion Hotel Sacramento (916-922-8041)—kings, queens, or two double beds are just $90 (plus tax and tip) per room (up to 4 people!) per night. Ask for Liberty Savard Writing School special. The Red Lion Hotel Sacramento is only a short walk to a giant mall, theatres, and great restaurants, plus the Sacramento Metropolitan airport has a shuttle that comes right to the hotel. Check out the hotel here! http://redlion.rdl.com/HotelLocator/HotelOverview.aspx?metaID=41&HBX_OU=50&HBX_PK=red_lion_hotel_sacramento

Questions and Answers

QUESTION: I have bought and read Shattering Your Strongholds and BEYOND Shattered Strongholds, and I am now reading Breaking the Power with great excitement. Of these three books, this last one speaks to me the most. It has caused such a renewing of hope and excitement in my spirit.

I have a question for you. We are not supposed to react to slights against us—things said to us or about us, or things done to us that are not nice. Where do we draw the line so that we do not become doormats and let people walk all over us and take advantage of us? Thank you for your help in this area, Sheila

ANSWER: That is a great question. I can't give you a perfect answer, but I can give you a truthful answer. As you are praying the binding and loosing prayers and opening up parts of your soul's hidden closets so that God can heal you, you will become more and more aware of the fact that you aren't reacting as much to perceived or real "slights" anymore. We react to "slights" because of our unmet needs, unhealed hurts, and unresolved issues filed in our unsundered souls—issues that our souls keep on Artificial Life Support for years, even decades!

The unsundered soul hopes to eventually get even with others for causing us to have these sources of pain and anxiety. Getting even never helped or healed anyone! And God won't barge through your soul's stronghold walls and your defense mechanism to heal you of these things.

Becoming a doormat won't happen because God won't let it happen if you are praying these prayers to surrender your way into His will. A doormat would have a hard time fulfilling His will. God may, however, want to use you to become a doorway to help others walk out of difficult situations. There's a big difference between being a doormat and being a doorway, although the unsundered soul cannot tell the difference when it is full of pain and fear.

Keep praying the binding and loosing prayers, keep reading your Word, keep talking to God, and loose any worried thoughts you have. Keep thanking Him for staying in control of your life while you are working to cooperate with Him to the best of your ability. Liberty

QUESTION: Dear Rev. Liberty, I continue to praise and thank the Lord for the special ministry He has given you. I've read four of your books and continue to re-read them and pray the binding and loosing prayers. Your books were my Christmas gifts this year from my pastor and his wife, as well as to others in the church.

A young woman (in her 20's) in our church has been labeled as childish and immature and told she acts like a teenager because she was born prematurely. Many in our church have long felt she should move in and live with me. I don't agree, but I have taken the time to tell her about Matthew 16:19. I told her that she should stop believing those labels.

I read one of the testimonies on your website about an older woman who lived in a nursing home who, after being prayed over with the binding and loosing prayers, became alert again and remembered people. I believe this young woman could become the mature woman her age if everyone around would pray for her and loose word curses off her. These are word curses, aren't they? Sandra

ANSWER: People speaking that this woman is "the way she is" because she was born prematurely are speaking words that can only limit her. So, yes, they can be considered as word curses, also as grave clothes. Keep binding her mind to the mind of Christ and praying and loosing word curses and grave clothes from her.

I think that God would have touched your heart within a year if He wanted you to take this woman into your home. If He has not, do not be talked into doing something you don't feel you should. Do not let others bring you into a wrong agreement. Only do something like this if you are sure God is urging you to do so. Keep helping this young woman learn about the Keys of the Kingdom praying. That will be very beneficial for her. God bless, Liberty

Testimonies

I have really enjoyed reading your book, Shattering Your Strongholds. I am a Christian since accepting Christ in the year 2001. I have applied the principles of binding and loosing in my life, and have prayed them for many others.

I am a business man who has had a bad experience in life, and I am now recovering with the help of our Father. My mission is to help the poor, the homeless, and battered women and children. I have made this commitment to God to do His work full-time. I know He has blessed me, and that He is shaping me for His plans which I accept. Wherever I go, I carry your book with me, and use it as a tool in my daily life. Thank you for the insights about life as a Christian. Andrew R.

Dear Sister Liberty, It has been a long time since February 1998 when we met at Church of the Harvest in Manvel, Texas, after I saw you on television that day. Then we met again in May 2001 in Houston, Texas, at your Teachers' Training school. My precious Sister and Fellow Laborer of the Lord, you will be excited to hear about what has been happening in my life.

Since I first discovered your awesome teaching, my life has never been the same. I have shared this great gift to the body of Christ time and time again to help them have a life-changing experience like I have.

I recently returned from Central America where I had the humble opportunity to be a part of ministry to the people there. I have been invited to return to Nicaragua for a women's conference this summer. The Lord is so good! Thank you, Sister Liberty, for being obedient to the Lord and for writing and teaching this profound message. You are a blessing I'll never forget, and I can't thank you enough. I Love you in Christ. God Bless you richly!
Patricia Howell, TX

Dear Liberty: I have just read an e-mail in the Question and Answer section of your website in which a sister had a similar marriage situation to mine. Bless God for your answer to her because it gave me a breakthrough, too!
Magdalena, NY (Magdalena: That is why the Q&A's are posted on the website. Bless you. Liberty)

Dear Liberty, Thanks so much for answering my e-mail about generational bondage. I have been praying the binding and loosing prayers for myself and my family and look forward to seeing all that God will do. He's already made such a difference in my own thought life. Do pray as I have an opportunity to present your book to our discipleship pastor. We are not a denomination that has ordained women or "charismatic" leanings, but the people in our church need this freedom to do what God created them to do—serve out of love and wholeness. Thanks again so much for your personal response to my previous e-mail!! God bless!! Lorna

This ministry believes the Scriptures are inspired of God, infallible, and fully authoritative for Christian faith and conduct. Jesus Christ, the Son of God, was born of a virgin, lived a sinless life on Earth, died on the cross in a substitutionary work of redemption for mankind, rose again and now sits at the right hand of the Father. Through Christ's shed blood and renewal of the Holy Ghost, justified by grace through faith, man becomes an heir of God with absolute hope of eternal life.

This ministry teaches Christians how to cause their unsundered souls (old natures) to surrender to the will and purposes of God. LSM also teaches Christians how to loose emotional baggage from their souls to create room within themselves to receive all God has promised to them. This allows them to fulfill their destinies while walking in knowledge and power to bring glory and honor to God the Father! This ministry also teaches God's people how to pray with the Keys of the Kingdom (Matthew 16:19) to impact things on earth so they come into alignment with God's already established will in heaven. This ministry is also dedicated to training Christians how to pray purely without "want lists" and instruction manuals for God (so He will know how best to answer their prayers!). Effective prayers with pure motives declare that God's will shall be done on Earth as He has so set it in heaven.
