Liberty Savard Ministries Newsletter - March 1, 2006 February/March 2006 Combined Newsletter (a Non-Profit Organization)

WORDS FROM LIBERTY

First off, I apologize to those who received up to eight e-mail newsletter notices for January! It appears that I didn't know what I thought I knew about distribution lists. I think I have a handle on that problem now.

Because of time spent on the lists, this is a combined February/March 2006 Newsletter to get back on track with a first-of-the-month e-mailing. If you have paid to subscribe to postal snail mail—your subscription is being extended an extra month so that you will get twelve issues for your subscription.

This has been an interesting month. I am in what I call a "free fall zone" with my thyroid condition—waiting for the thyroid hormone to completely leave my body without my body crashing. This has caused serious muscle spasms, fatigue, and cold chills while waiting until my doctor can regulate a thyroid replacement for me. Interesting!

Saturday morning something very unusual and exciting happened. I was startled awake at 6:00 a.m. by a loud voice saying, "ENOUGH!" Since I live alone and my cat, Gracie, does not speak English—I immediately paid attention. I believe the Lord was saying that all of the attacks for the last three years are over—enough is enough! I sense that I will now begin to pray at a new level to destroy the works of the enemy and my soul's hindrances that have been directed against me, this ministry, this message, and my family.

I thank the Lord for these keys and for His word to me that it is time to exert more authority on several different levels. ENOUGH IS ENOUGH! I believe some interesting things lie ahead!

February Teachers' Training School Was Exciting

What a rewarding and fun time we had at this school! Two pastors' wives, Sharon Williams from Tennessee and Tempy McGhee from North Carolina joined us, as did two students from Southern California—Sue Smid and Barbara Combs. And the cute group below came all the way from Tasmania Australia: Dottie Davey, Terry Kelly, Cheryl Weeks, and Maxine Brazier.

The Aussies seemed to enjoy every aspect of almost everything while here. Yes I received the following from Cheryl Weeks regarding getting out of America and onto the plane for Australia on Sunday, February 12th: "At the Greyhound bus centre, police and security guards were searching bags. Maxine, Dottie, and I got on the bus and then waited for Terry . . . waited and waited! When she finally got on, she said they made her unpack all her bags, thoroughly checked them, and asked her a lot of questions! We discovered later that someone had tried to smuggle a human head in their bag!!

When we got to the Los Angeles airport, a “sniffer” dog pounced on Terry’s bag! She had some food in it earlier, and the dog could evidently smell it even though the food was gone! Then when we arrived in Australia, the security/customs people took Terry into another room for more interrogation! What a trip.” (Liberty: Sort of makes you wonder what this “Terry person” might really have been up to, doesn’t it?)

I’m sure this prompted another fit of giggles because Aussies do giggles better than anyone else. Their comments: “The LSM Teachers’ Training was a most fulfilling experience! Worth every penny it took to get there! This was a very well organized school, even though the days were long. We highly recommend this training.”

Practicing the Word

I four versions of the Bible simultaneously on my PC Study Bible program—The Message, Amplified Version, NIV, and NKJV. This gives me a richer understanding of each passage. I research with the Amplified Version, NIV, and NKJV. The Message (paraphrased) is good, however, for practical explanations of passages that might seem quite abstract to some Christians. Based upon the richness of the following passage in The Message, the Apostle Paul told the Philippians Christians this (Philippians 4:9:

“Put into practice what you learned from me, what you heard and saw and realized. Do that, and God, who makes everything work together, will work you into his most excellent harmonies.”

All of the good sermons and what you read in the Word will do you no good unless you put them into practice. Consider the following Ephesians 4:22-24 (The Message):

“Since, then, we do not have the excuse of ignorance, everything—and I do mean everything—connected with that old way of life has to go. It’s rotten through and through. Get rid of it! And then take on an entirely new way of life—a God-fashioned life, a life renewed from the inside and working itself into your conduct as God accurately reproduces his character in you.

“Get rid of your old life and everything connected with it!” Does this mean you need to turn completely away from unsaved friends and family members who do not honor God? Not unless they are actively interfering with your relationship with God and you are not strong enough to withstand them. The whole world is your mission field. Too many try to practice their Christianity discipleship only on Sunday shortly before, during, and after the morning service. You are called to present Jesus Christ to the world every day through your words, your actions and behaviors, through your whole life.

Ephesians 4:22 actually applies to Christians who are still practicing behaviors and pursuits of pleasure, as well as indulging self-interests, which are keeping their souls in touch with their lower instincts and desires. What should you do to obey this verse?

- Stop watching television programs, videos, and movies that excite such emotional reactions as desires for revenge, violent thoughts, occult interests, and the desire to be frightened.
- Stop reading books and magazines that appeal to your sexual appetites.
- Stop listening to and telling dirty and/or questionable stories and jokes.
- Stop fantasizing about any of the above and whatever other things that you could not get up in church and testify as occupying much of your thought life.

“Take on an entirely new way of life — a God-fashioned life,” When you (as a believer) pray and loose your wrong patterns of thinking, wrong desires, and wrong ideas from your soul, you begin to create room within yourself for change. Positive life change flourishes and grows better in newly opened areas of the mind than it does in the midst of old, wrong patterns of thinking.

“a life renewed from the inside and working itself into your conduct as God accurately reproduces his character in you.” Begin to read the Word to look for examples of how to conduct yourself as a child of God, as urged in Ephesians 5:1-2 (The Message):

“Watch what God does, and then you do it, like children who learn proper behavior from their parents. Mostly what God does is love you. Keep company with him and learn a life of love. Observe how Christ loved us. His love was not cautious but extravagant. He didn’t love in order to get something from us but to give everything of himself to us. Love like that.”

Stay in the Word learning about God’s character, and keep using the Keys of the Kingdom to steady yourself (binding) as you keep cutting away (loosing) all wrong thought patterns and wrong beliefs that would interfere with learning godly conduct.

When you pray and loose wrong patterns of thinking, wrong desires, and wrong ideas from your soul, you begin to create room within yourself for change.

- Positive life change flourishes and grows better in newly opened areas of the mind, much more than it does in the midst of old, wrong patterns of thinking.
- Know that while you should watch your words, your behavior, and conduct, you are practicing imitating God and learning spiritual discipline as you do.
- You do not change yourself by acting right or behaving better—you must be transformed from within. You do not transform yourself, He transforms you. You can cooperate with this transformation by clearing old things from your soul to allow the work of the Holy Spirit to freely reproduce God’s character within you.

Questions and Liberty’s Answers

Question: Dear Liberty, I and a friend are both in the process of losing weight (which we have tried many times before). My cousin sent your Shattering Your Strongholds book and workbook to me. My friend ordered the books, too. We agreed to study and do this together as we “loose” this weight. We belong to a group of ladies online who support each other through prayer, encouragement, and the Word.

We live all over the country and want to be able to do SYS online, but we don’t want to break any copyright laws. All of our group bought the books, but there are others—saved and unsaved—who are able to view our thread who probably have not. We would like to refer to questions and maybe some quotes from your book, etc. Is this a problem?

We are all excited to start and would love to hear from you soon. We just want to be free! We are praising the Lord for this tool that He taught you and had you put together! Thank you, dear sister.

Answer: Pattie, I think you might have come up with something very good here. As long as everyone in your main group has the book to study (because it is important for everyone to understand what they are actually doing when they use the Keys of the Kingdom, binding and losing), I will authorize you to do the following:

You may refer online to the SYS questions, use quotes from the book (not to exceed one paragraph at a time, please), and use single questions from the workbook in your discussions. I do suggest that you recommend that everyone read certain pages or chapters in the book so that your discussions are more focused. Please show author (Rev. Liberty Savard), publisher (Bridge-Logos Publishing), and URL www.libertysavard.com whenever you quote anything from the books. As you are working together on this, feel free to contact me if any issues come up that you want help with. God bless you, Liberty

Question: I want to get started in ministry. It seems like others always get more opportunities than I do. I am trying hard not to have hard feelings when someone who doesn’t seem to deserve it gets to lead meetings. K.

Answer: K., while you have not said that others are getting their opportunities through deception or wrong practices (good for you!), look at what the Apostle Paul tells us he did when others stepped in because he was imprisoned and unable to minister. The Message version of the Word says it so well in Philippians 1:17-19:

“The others, now that I’m out of the picture, are merely greedy, hoping to get something out of it for themselves. Their motives are bad. They see me as their competition, and so the worse it goes for me, the better—they think—for them. So how am I to respond? I’ve decided that I really don’t care about their motives, whether mixed, bad, or indifferent. Every time one of them opens his mouth, Christ is proclaimed, so I just cheer them on! And I’m going to keep that celebration going because I know how it’s going to turn out. Through your faithful prayers and the generous response of the Spirit of Jesus Christ, everything he wants to do in and through me will be done.”

Paul cared that the Gospel was being preached more than he cared about who was preaching it. This can be difficult when your soul wants recognition. Getting wrapped up in wanting recognition can cause you to miss the main point of ministry: That others might know about Jesus Christ. Keep binding your will to the will of God, your mind to the mind of Christ, and your emotions to the healing balance of the Holy Spirit. Keep loosing all wrong patterns of thinking and wrong beliefs from your soul. Loosing wrong ideas and attitudes will help you see how Jesus taught Paul to think.

If you don’t have opportunities to minister, then begin to minister encouragement, prayer, and help to those who are ministering. Do it with good motives—do it just to be a blessing. Don’t do it looking for contacts, paybacks, and speaking opportunities. Your time to step into your ministry is not running out. God may just want to polish you up a bit more so that when your opportunity comes, you will really shine! Liberty

Question: Liberty, what a name to have a ministry such as yours! I have a question that so far I haven’t been able to find an answer for. My wife and I have a healing ministry that has had the doors closed until the Lord works through some things in our lives.

One of those things is I don't know how to receive healing for myself. I can believe instantly when I pray for someone else that they will be healed (and are!), but I can't receive it. I am praying the binding and loosing prayers, but is there something else in one of your books that might help me in this? I believe once I am set free of this, my wife will also be set free. Randy Answer: Actually, there are many reasons why we don't receive healing as promised in the Word. You can begin to cooperate with God by working on loosing things in your soul that may be hindering you: misconceptions and pre-conceived ideas about God, skewed beliefs about the Word, wrong patterns of thinking, generational bondage thinking, the effects and influences of wrong agreements you've made or have been made about you, to name a few main ones. Any combination of these things can cause doubt or fear in your soul and mess with your ability to believe and receive. Deception, denial, and error can just plain block incoming blessing and understanding.

The binding and loosing prayers deal with getting these wrong things exposed and removed. That makes room to receive more from God. You say you are praying the binding and loosing prayers. Does that mean you are praying them every day? You take a bath every day and you teeth every day—acts that remove things from your body that are not desirable. The binding and loosing prayers remove things from your soul that are not desirable. I suggest that you focus on getting wrong stuff out of your soul, rather than focusing on why you are not getting healed. Focus on cooperating with God.

One of the prayers that I recommend when something is lodged deep in the soul is the Breaking Soul Power prayer found on page 30 of Breaking the Power. We recommend that this prayer should be prayed every day for 30 days to see a real breakthrough. Praying the prayers does not just mean reading them—seriously consider and commit to every word you say of them. Liberty

Question: I worry about my 29-year old son all the time. I'm concerned that he's running around with other people who are a bad influence on him. I am worrying so much, it is making me feel sick. What can I do? YG

Answer: YG, first of all, GET YOUR FOCUS OFF YOUR SON. All the worry in the world doesn't change a thing on earth, and it doesn't change anything in heaven. Making yourself sick won't change a thing on earth or in heaven, either. Read the following verses here (in The Message), and then reread them in your favorite version of the Bible. Philippians 4:6-7:

“Don't fret or worry. Instead of worrying, pray. Let petitions and praises shape your worries into prayers, letting God know your concerns. Before you know it, a sense of God's wholeness, everything coming together for good, will come and settle you down. It's wonderful what happens when Christ displaces worry at the center of your life.”

The most productive and effective thing you can do is to ask God's protection and help for your son as you pray and bind him to His heavenly Father. Then praise God for His mighty power, love, and mercy. He loves your son more than you do, and He is in a position to impact your son's life the most. You need to be focusing on God for yourself right now—and not just to get His attention or show Him how much you want His help. Focus on His goodness, His faithfulness in all areas of your life, and thank him for His grace and mercy that will help you and your son no matter how he might be messing up.

Some people badger God with their worries. They quote the Word and insist that God do what they believe will be best—demanding that He fulfill promises they want filled. This type of “praying” can easily slip into an attempt at spiritual blackmail. Let Christ take over your thoughts, and displace all your worries. Liberty

Question: Liberty, why doesn't God keep His Word to some people? Why isn't the sowing and reaping concept working for me? Janice Answer: God always keeps His Word, but there are times conditions must be met to receive the promised answers. Most of these conditions are the “ifs” in His Word.

- John 8:31 (KJV), “If ye continue in my word, then are ye my disciples indeed; and ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free.” You cannot truly be free unless you know His Word as He means it to be known. Too often we “write” our own desires and misconceptions into what God has said He will do. Only examining His word can keep us from doing that.
- Matthew 6:1 (NIV), “Be careful not to do your ‘acts of righteousness’ before men, to be seen by them. If you do, you will have no reward from your Father in heaven.” God's promises about receiving blessings for the good done to others won't work for the one who gives or does good deeds with the motive of being seen, being praised, or getting paybacks.
- Luke 6:38 (NIV), “Give, and it will be given to you. A good measure, pressed down, shaken together and running over, will be poured into your lap.” The “if” here is if you give, then a return will be given back to you. This giving has to be pure and without ulterior motives that insist upon a return gain.

- Matthew 6:15 (NIV), “But if you do not forgive men their sins, your Father will not forgive your sins.” You must forgive others to be forgiven for the things you have done since you were saved. You were forgiven of everything in your past when you got saved. From that point on, your forgiveness is strongly impacted by your willingness or lack thereof to forgive others.

Check out your motives for why you are doing the good things you do. If you are doing them just to be a blessing to others, then your soul will not care whether or not anyone does anything back. God is on the job, fulfilling His promises. Just be sure you are in touch with the conditions of the promise you most desire. I prayed for you tonight. Liberty

Question: Dear Liberty, my husband, Don, just got out of the hospital. He had a heart test with chemicals while he was in there, but they never did find out what the problem was. He needs a new liver, and they had to give him heavy painkillers for the stomach pain. Could you help us on how to pray for this? I have your books. Marian:

Answer: Marian, pray with the Keys of the Kingdom. You have my books, and can pray right binding and loosing prayers from them for your husband—getting him to pray them also. Just add the following to whatever you pray (change the pronouns when he prays):

I bind every one of Don’s cells to your will and purposes for his life, Lord. I bind his mind and emotions to you as I ask for healing and balance for his body and soul. Please pour out your grace and mercy upon him physically, emotionally, and mentally. Thank you for taking care of him—thank you, Lord, thank you.

I loose any diagnoses the doctors have pronounced over Don that do not agree with your purposes for his life. Thank you for the doctors and their help, but those who do not know you do not see his health as you do. They do not know the hope and the promises that we have as your children. Please strengthen Don and restore his organs to the state they should be. Praise you, Lord, for knowing what is best at all times.

Marian, also keep up the daily binding and loosing prayers for yourself so that you do not get discouraged. When you are taking care of someone who is sick, you can get exhausted. When your body is exhausted and your soul is discouraged, your soul can bring your body into wrong agreement—and wrong agreements like that can be difficult to overcome the longer they stay in place.

Bind your wills to God’s will and then loose, smash, crush, and destroy any and all wrong mind/body agreements you or Don may have allowed to form within your souls. I prayed for Don and for you today. Liberty

Question: My entire family has rejected me and does not want to see me. I have very few friends and I am single. People in my church say that God is all I need, and to let it go. How can God heal me when my family made the choice to completely reject me, which devastates me? What’s wrong with me? I wonder if I have nothing to offer anyone else. A lot of people take advantage of me, so how can I guard my heart and yet still allow God to completely heal me? Kitt

Answer: Kitt, you cannot force your unfriendly family members want to know you. You have to accept that. Otherwise you are going to exhaust and discourage yourself while trying to enforce one of what I call our unenforceable rules: this particular unenforceable rule being that you think you should be able to control how other people act towards you. You cannot—but you can change how you feel about their choices. You have some deep unmet needs, and your family can’t meet them for you. So, you need to refocus your thoughts on God so that He can begin to meet your unmet needs.

Your Christian friends were right to an extent when they said that you have God and that should be enough. That is true in its best and most perfect, theoretical situation. I know that it can be very hard to find comfort in that, however, when you are feeling rejected and alone.

You ask, “How can God heal me when my family has chosen to reject me?” Please understand that God’s healing is absolutely not dependent upon how someone else feels about you, or what anyone else thinks or says about you. His love is something special and precious—God loves you, will heal you, and wants to spend time with you just because you are you.

He does not like the fact that you are feeling hurt and alone because of your family’s rejection, but He will work that out. Give Him room to work while you rest in His faithfulness. I believe that your family has some issues that can only be resolved through prayer—prayer that believes God can do anything—prayer that acknowledges and accepts that He will do it in His time so it is done the best possible way for everyone. I suggest that you start looking at what you do have and start thanking God for that. Put your feelings about what you are not getting from your family on the shelf in God’s closet, and leave it there.

You can’t do anything about it but pray right prayers, so stop going over and over it. You’re only reinforcing and reliving the pain that such thoughts have caused you. You have so much to offer, and when God works this out in your life, you will be able to offer great wisdom and compassion to others in the same situation.

The Message's version of Ephesians 3:14-20 says this:

“My response is to get down on my knees before the Father, this magnificent Father who parcels out all heaven and earth. I ask him to strengthen you by his Spirit—not a brute strength but a glorious inner strength—that Christ will live in you as you open the door and invite him in. And I ask him that with both feet planted firmly on love, you’ll be able to take in with all Christians the extravagant dimensions of Christ’s love. Reach out and experience the breadth! Test its length! Plumb the depths! Rise to the heights! Live full lives, full in the fullness of God. God can do anything, you know—far more than you could ever imagine or guess or request in your wildest dreams! He does it not by pushing us around but by working within us, his Spirit deeply and gently within us.”

I believe that for you. And I will pray this with you in addition to what you are already praying:

Father, I choose to believe that I have worth in your eyes, especially because your Word tells me so. I choose to believe that you love me and created me so I could love you. I bind myself to your will, I bind my mind to the mind of Christ, and I bind my torn emotions to the healing balance of the Holy Spirit. I loose all the layers of self-protection, self-deception, and self-defense I have put over the hurt and pain that I feel from my family’s rejection. I am going to focus on getting rid of my walls and stronghold thinking so that you can begin to heal me.

I need you to fix me. I accept that my family cannot fix me, they can’t even seem to love me right now. So I fix my hope and my expectation on you, and your Word says that you will never disappoint my hope in you.

I prayed for you today, Kitt. Liberty

Testimonies

About the 18th of July I came to the end of myself and resigned as CEO of my life! I decided to FINALLY let the Lord have HIS will, and not my own, in everything, even my broken marriage relationship. I thought to myself, what could it hurt? I have been married 3 times and divorced twice. It’s apparent to me that I don’t have a clue as to how to run my life myself. After receiving the last two books in your Keys of the Kingdom trilogy, I began to have some insight into the fact that I REALLY have a destiny to get on with and I became excited about what that might be.

I still pray all the binding and loosing prayers but instead of focusing all my energy on him . . . on our marriage . . . on his soul ties with this other woman . . . so on and so on and so on, but I got up, said my morning prayers, gave it all to God, and got on with my day! How liberating!! I have begun, in earnest, to pray from the depths of my soul that I want God’s will. Making this decision lifted all the questions about whether or not everything was going to be okay. I KNEW everything would truly be okay however this turned out to be. I’m stepping down from my will to let God have His.

Liberty: I want you to know that I “randomly” picked your book on Strongholds off the shelf at the bookstore and have been ministered to very deeply by it. I have been recovering from the month from hell in my marriage, and God has been faithful to reach through the strongholds my wife and I have been slaves to for so many years. We are doing so much better now. We now have a place for communication that will hopefully lead to the destruction of many strongholds that would be better described as fortresses. Thank you so much for your faithfulness in this ministry. When you answered God’s call to this work, you became a part of the healing for me and my family. Again, thank you. Steven

I live in England, and have only recently started watching Liberty on the God Channel. I am really excited by the binding and loosing prayers, I never really thought to pray them like that, and in so many situations, too! Her teaching is so inspirational, and long may she continue. Does Liberty ever come to England? Her testimonies are brilliant. C. McNamara

NEW Breaking Financial Lack and Want Prayers and CORRECTED PRICES On Order Blank This Month

Last month’s order blank had some very old prices on it, and we want to just say we give our blessings to those of you who brought from that list. However, that list is no longer good, even though it gives a later expiration date. The 2/28/06 through 6/30/06 list is correct. So many costs have gone up in the production of some of our products. We have also had some breakdowns in our equipment. Please understand. As I have said for the last year when I was speaking and said something wrong or backwards, “Oooops, must be the thyroid hormones.”

In addition to the new healing prayers previously mentioned, there is much more to be said about money. People are still writing to me and asking me if they can bind themselves to prosperity, money, or success, etc. There are others who want to loose lack of money. The answer is NO. For instance, if your refrigerator is empty, loosing “empty” isn’t going to fill it. These prayers are not magic, they are just very, very helpful. I felt I should give people something to pray, however, that might help them get breakthroughs in their thinking about their financial needs. So, the new Overcoming Financial Lack prayer charts were born.

Click through here to get to the Finance prayer charts online, or go to your new order blank if you receive this by Postal Snail Mail.

LSM Partners, LSM Teachers, LSM Directors

Such kind words of encouragement you have sent my way lately. Thanks you also for the extra giving you sent. Scars of Love

(Having received this by e-mail with no identification of who wrote it, I have adapted the following because of the wonderful point it makes.)

On a hot summer day in the South, a little boy decided to head for the lake behind his house. He dove into the water, not realizing as he swam toward the middle of the lake that an alligator was slowly following him. In the house, his mother was looking out the window when she saw the two as they got closer and closer together. Terrified, she ran toward the water calling to her son as loudly as she could, "Swim to shore—swim to shore as fast as you can!" Hearing her frightened voice, the little boy began to frantically swim. The mother grabbed his arms and pulled just as the alligator grabbed his legs.

A great tug-of-war ensued! The alligator was stronger than the mother, but the mother was much too passionate to let go. A farmer happened to drive by and heard her screams. Racing from his truck, he took aim and shot the alligator—then pulled her boy out of the water. Remarkably, after weeks in the hospital, the little boy survived, but his legs were extremely scarred.

On his arms were deep scratches where his mother's fingernails dug into his flesh in her effort to hang on to the son she loved so deeply. A newspaper reporter who interviewed the boy after the trauma asked if he would show him his scars. The boy lifted his pant legs first, but then said, "Look at my arms. I have scars on my arms, too, where my Mom wouldn't let me go."

Have you ever considered that some of your scars from your worst battles have occurred because God refused to let go of you in the middle of your problem. Sometimes we foolishly wade into dangerous situations, not knowing what lies ahead. Many swimming holes of life are filled with peril, and we often ignore the fact that the enemy may be treading water just under the surface waiting to attack. If you have the scars of God's love on your arms, be very grateful. He wouldn't and He never will let you go. Never judge another person's scars, because you don't know how they got them.

Binding and Loosing Tips So You Don't Pray Amiss

1. Pray the binding and loosing prayers to cause your soul to surrender to God's will for your life.
2. Binding and loosing prayers are not new ways to get God to give you what you want—they are ways to help you pray in accordance with what He wants.
3. Binding and loosing prayers are not new ways to get God to do what you want done in the lives of those you are praying for.
4. Binding and loosing prayers are ways for you to pray that your loved ones will come into agreement with God's will for their lives.

This ministry believes the Scriptures are inspired of God, infallible, and fully authoritative for Christian faith and conduct. Jesus Christ, the Son of God, was born of a virgin, lived a sinless life on Earth, died on the cross in a substitutionary work of redemption for mankind, rose again and now sits at the right hand of the Father. Through Christ's shed blood and renewal of the Holy Ghost, justified by grace through faith, man becomes an heir of God with absolute hope of eternal life.

This ministry teaches Christians how to cause their unsundered souls (old natures) to surrender to the will and purposes of God. LSM also teaches Christians how to loose emotional baggage from their souls to create room within themselves to receive all God has promised to them. This allows them to fulfill their destinies while walking in knowledge and power to bring glory and honor to God the Father! This ministry also teaches God's people how to pray with the Keys of the Kingdom (Matthew 16:19) to impact things on earth so that they come into alignment with God's already established will in heaven. This ministry is also dedicated to training Christians how to pray purely without "want lists" and instruction manuals for God (so He will know how best to answer the prayers!). Effective prayers with pure motives declare that God's will shall be done on Earth as He has so set it in heaven.
